Clear Path in Congress for Quick Vote on Defense Plan

GOP Leaders Join in Move to Speed U. S. Program
NO OPPOSITION

Proposals Drafted for Expansion in All Military Fields

Washington—(P)—The mightiest peacetime preparedness drive in American history got the right-of-way on all fronts today, and the titular leaders of the Republican party put their weight behind it to give it momentum.

"Action—and action now" was the unphrased slogan as congress cut through more legislative preliminaries toward the objective of having the extraordinary $1,182,000,000 defense program ready for senate and house approval next week.

A senate subcommittee set the pace, voting quickly in favor of $647,648,994 in extra army appropriations recommended in President Roosevelt's defense message and then adding an additional, unrequested $50,000,000 for more regular troops.

Plans Being Drafted
Plans were being drafted simultaneously elsewhere to cover the whole sphere of military effort—from large-scale expansion of aircraft and munitions industries to the training of pilots.

Led by former President Herbert Hoover and Alfred M. Landon, 1936 presidential nominee, key Republican figures backed the administration in putting defense needs foremost.

There was conjecture in some quarters as to whether a bi-partisan defense coalition will be in the offing. This speculation was spurred by an invitation to Landon to lunch with President Roosevelt Wednesday at the White House.

Interest likewise attached to the announcement of Colonel Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee in 1936, that Mr. Roosevelt had authorized him to disclose plans for "Plattsburgs of the air," an idea conceived and backed by a group of patriotic citizens. This project envisions a series of training camps to produce thousands of military fliers.

WILL SPEED TRAINING
San Antonio, Texas—(P)—Things are humming at Randolph field. Cadet training will be stepped up materially in line with the desires of president Roosevelt to make the United States a defensive power of the world.

Five hundred cadets now are at the field but army authorities, anticipating the president's request to congress for added millions for a huge fighting air corps, are making plans to accommodate at least 1,000. Cadet training will be stepped up materially in line with the desires of president Roosevelt to make the United States a defensive power of the world.

Link Detroit Group With Theft of Suits
From Montana Store

Detroit—(P)—Police today detained five men and a young woman following the seizure last night of 1450 suits of men's clothing in the basement of a house on the west side.

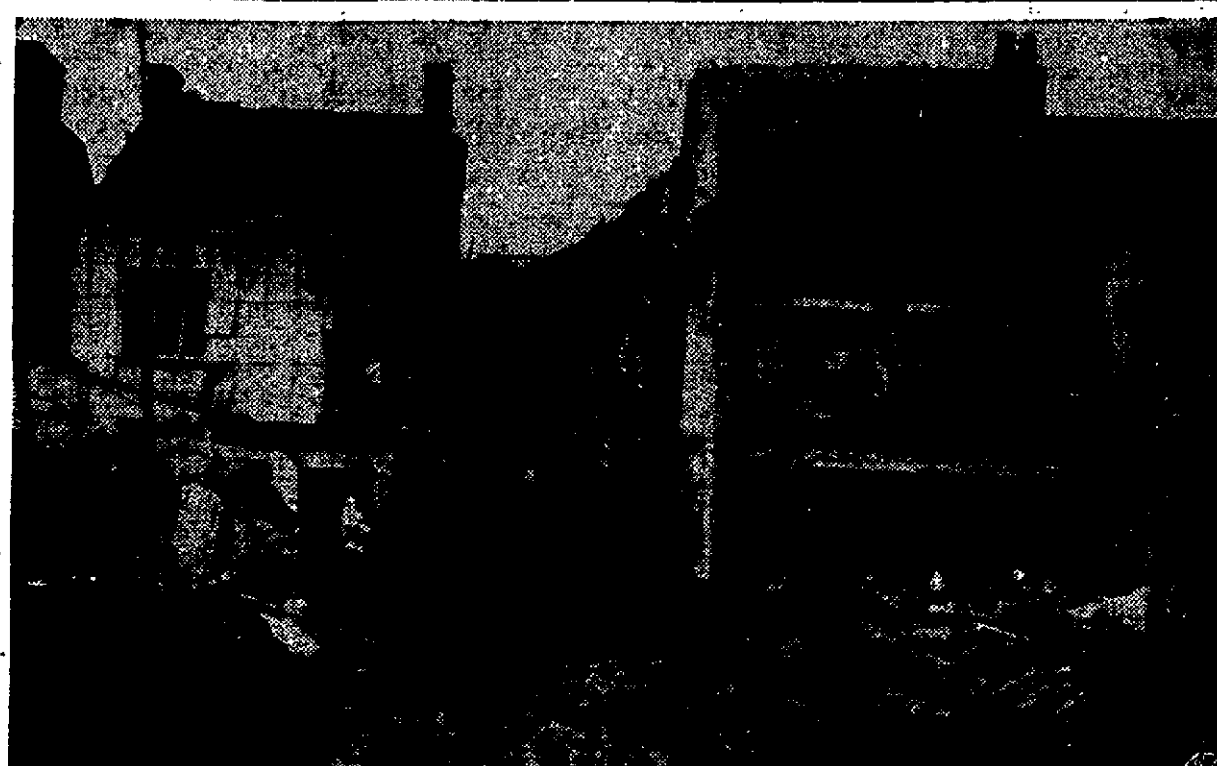

Seizure of the clothing resulted from a request by Montana authorities, who reported that burglars had entered a Bozeman clothing store and removed its entire stock of men's suits. An inquiry disclosed that three men and a woman in two cars bearing Michigan license plates had been in Bozeman and left immediately after shipping two large cases to a Detroit address the day following the robbery. Those questioning were: Manuel Garcia, 40; Kenneth Pickering, 33; Ulpiano Carrion, 21; Joseph Martin, 27; Angelo Caruso, 30; and Jean Malineski, 23, all giving addresses in the Detroit metropolitan area.

All Patented Except the Baby

A baby carriage convertible into a "roller-basket" for carrying groceries was recently patented. So, pretty soon the busy housewife, with a bridge or movie date on her mind, may tenderly tuck her offspring in the baby carriage, roll it to the kitchen door, "roller-basket" the groceries home and leave baby to be delivered at the kitchen door of her sunny home bought or rented through the Post-Crescent classified want-ads. Results rolled in from this one:

ATLANTIC ST., E.—Modern 6 room house. Hardwood finish throughout. Garage. Tel. 32.

Fighting in Great Battle Termed Worst in History

BY H. TAYLOR HENRY
Paris—(P)—Fleeing crowds of (three words censored) refugees from Belgium and northeastern France are streaming toward the interior while the French army meets the trip-hammer blows of the invading German shock forces.

I have just returned to Paris from a week's stay along the sector of the front where the fighting is now heaviest.

For more than 70 miles I bicycled along roads packed with slowly plodding peasants and automobiles and convoys moving in the opposite direction.

I started back to Paris 24 hours ago from Cambrai after being bombed for more than an hour (four words censored). At least thirty old men, women and children were killed.

The fighting in this first of really modern battles has been terrific—like nothing before in history.

A French officer who fought in the last war told me "there can be no comparison between this battle and the worst ones of the last war. Two hours of this is worse than two days of the battle of Verdun."

(Verdun was the greatest center of resistance to the German invasion during the World war and both the French and Germans suffered tremendous losses.)

Losses are reported (two words censored) heavy.

Escaped Bombs
As P. J. Phillips of the New York Times and I were setting out early yesterday morning for Paris on bicycles, the only available means of transportation, a German plane dive-bombed behind us.

It lost five bombs on railroad tracks. We were within 40 yards. We threw ourselves flat against a wall amidst a shower of bricks and glass and then raced to a shelter to avoid the plane's spraying machine-gun bullets as it returned.

I pedaled back toward the hotel. Again the planes attacked. The bombs fell a block away. They were bigger this time. The force of the explosion knocked me off the bicycle, ripping the back wheel to pieces.

Again the planes returned to machine-gun attack. Again I ducked to the cover of a wall. A French major

The premier will be assisted by Marshal Petain in his leadership.

Marshal Petain, who will be 84 years next Friday, until today was France's ambassador to Spain, where he was sent when France recognized the civil war conquest of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's nationalists.

Mother, Son Killed As Train Hits Auto

Zion, Ill.—(P)—Mrs. Margaret Muller, 32, and her 11-year-old son, Irvin, were killed today in an automobile-train accident near the outskirts of Zion.

Their automobile was struck by a Skokie Valley route passenger train of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Electric line and dragged 800 feet down the right-of-way.

The impact smashed windows of the dining car. Two 15-foot splinters of a telephone pole were driven through the roof of the last car.

James Radke of Milwaukee was motorman of the train. The crossing was marked with a warning bell and flasher lights.

Transported Pelts Illegally, Is Charge

Merit Awards Will be Given To Young Citizens at Program Climaxing Series of Classes

Outagamie county's first annual citizenship program will be climaxed at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Appleton High school auditorium when about 300 21-year-olds and naturalized citizens will receive merit awards.

The certificates will be presented by Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools, to youths who have come into citizenship and naturalized citizens who during the last few weeks attended a series of citizenship classes. Instructions in the rights and duties of a citizen were given at the classes which were held at a number of centers in the county.

The certificates are of pocket-book size and are signed by Superintendent Van Straten who is secretary of the citizenship program. Ben J. Rohan, who will preside at the meeting Sunday, is chairman of the program.

H. H. Heblie, high school principal, will be the speaker. Student talks will be given by Tenny Zussman and Robert Maves, Appleton; Eugene Reed, Seymour; and Merle Nelson, Shiocton.

Selects will be given by the high school orchestra. Rabbi Ralph DeKoven will give the invocation, and the Rev. Robert K. Bell the benediction. The affair is open to the public.

Inquest Throws No New Light on Van Camp Murders

Verdict Says Mother, Son Killed by Charges From Shotgun

No new light was thrown on the deaths of Mrs. Annie Van Camp, 77, and her son, William, 31, who were found murdered at their farm home five miles north of Little Chute last Sunday morning, at an inquest held yesterday afternoon in the St. Nicholas church hall at Freedom.

The inquest jury found that the two came to their deaths "by a person or persons who are at present unknown. The cause of death, according to testimony of the state pathologist, was a shot from a large calibre shotgun, the charge entering the brain of each of the deceased persons."

John Verkuilen, neighbor of the Van Camps, told how he went to the farm early Sunday morning and found the body of William lying in blood on the back porch.

Verkuilen said he stepped over the body and went into the house where he found Mrs. Van Camp dead in bed. He returned home, Verkuilen said, and sent his sons to notify neighbors as he had no phone in his home. He said he noticed a light in the Van Camp home about 2

2 Bankers Freed In Coster Case

Former Controller of McKesson and Robbins Guilty Under SEC Act

New York—(P)—Two Connecticut bankers are free of charges of participation in the $21,000,000 swindle of McKesson and Robbins, Inc., while the company's former controller stands convicted of violating the securities and exchange act.

Federal court jury verdicts returned last night thus ended another chapter in the amazing story of F. Donald Coster-Musica, a former convict who turned his back on his past, became a captain of industry as president of the $87,000,000 McKesson drug empire, and then killed himself in 1938 when his identity and manipulations were bare.

John H. McGloin, the former controller, was acquitted on mail fraud and conspiracy counts of a 13-count indictment and convicted on one SEC violation count.

Both Rowley W. Phillips, Waterbury, Conn., investment banker, and Horace B. Merwin, Bridgeport, Conn., bank president, were acquitted on all counts. They were directors of McKesson and Robbins.

The three, with six others who pleaded guilty, were accused of knowingly acquiescing in Coster-Musica's devices for ballooning the firm's assets through fake transactions and fictitious subsidiaries.

Under his conviction, McGloin could receive a maximum sentence of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

CIO Group Stands For U. S. Isolation

Chicago—(P)—Delegates to the second international convention of the Steel Workers Organizing committee carried back an appeal for American military isolation to their constituent bodies today.

The convention ended yesterday with Chairman Philip Murray declaring amid cheers that it was the business of the CIO organization "to do all it can by might and main to keep America out of this war."

Michael S. W. O. C. must develop its energies to the solution of pressing domestic problems, adding, however, that if the United States had to "protect its own shores, organized workers will stand as one man against all nations in the universe."

The convention approved a program directed at solving technological unemployment, improving all working conditions in the industry and establishing eventually a 30-hour week. In the absence of a declaration from President Roosevelt, the delegates left any expression on the third-term issue to their officers.

Likewise the officers were charged with the direction of all union affairs until a constitutional convention in May, 1942, when by agreement the S. W. O. C. is expected to be consolidated with the older Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

Germans Widen Advance But Suffer Tremendous Casualties, French Assert

Berlin Says Some Troops Within 60 Miles Of Paris

ANTWERP OCCUPIED

Dutch Resistance Ended In Portion of Zeeland Province

BY LOUIS F. LOCHNER

Berlin—(P)—German's mighty forces raced into strategic Antwerp today while to the south their left wing thundered to within 60 miles of Paris, authorized sources said.

To the north their right wing mopped up in southern Holland, where resistance on islands of Zeeland province crumbled.

Heavy attacks by Nazi warplanes against enemy troops reeling back under the impact of the on-rushing warriors were reported by the high command to have turned the allied withdrawal into a retreat which "at a number of places resembled a rout."

Three high points of the pounding drive in the west toward the Belgian and French channel ports facing England and toward Paris stood out in German reports:

1. Advance guards in northern France cut through to within 60 miles of Paris while the main army was within 100 miles of the French capital.

2. Antwerp was entered today and the swastika flag raised over the city hall following yesterday's sweep in Belgium which netted Brussels, 28 miles south of Antwerp, Mechelen (Malines) and Louvain.

3. The last vestiges of Dutch resistance on Walcheren island, part of Zeeland province, was eliminated as the Dutch army commander offered his capitulation, while on the islands of Schouwen and South Beveland more than 2,000 Dutch and French were captured.

After smashing a 62-mile-wide hole in northern France in the Maubeuge-Montmedy region, the German army dashed on madly in a rush for the French capital.

The German high command etched in stark language the speed and the weight of the drive south of Maubeuge, which is about 120 miles northeast of Paris. It said:

"South of Maubeuge German armor and forces penetrated French frontier fortifications, dispersed two enemy divisions and pursued the retreating enemy beyond the upper Sambre (river) in a southward direction as far as the upper Oise (river)."

Claim Many Prisoners
"Infantry divisions are now closely following up in tremendous marches. Many prisoners among the defeated French troops were made and large supplies captured."

South of there, south of Sedan in the region where the main Maginot line has its western anchorage, the high command said "we gained ground in a southerly direction."

The entry into Antwerp, important and heavily-fortified port at the northern end of the allied lines, was reported by the German official news agency at almost the same time as the high command communique, reviewing yesterday's developments, had announced "we succeeded in breaking into the outer ring of the Antwerp fortresses at two places."

Besides claiming tremendous successes for the German air force in attacks on "dense columns" of the allied reeling in Belgium and France, the high command said German lost only 26 airplanes while the enemy lost 108 yesterday.

Wallace Would Bar Grain Futures Trade Below Today's Close

Washington—(P)—Secretary Wallace today asked the nations grain futures markets to prohibit until future notice all trading in grain futures below the closing prices of today.

This request was made after wheat prices had declined more than 25 cents a bushel this week.

Wallace explained that the federal government probably was without authority to require cessation of trading in futures contracts, but he said he felt the markets would cooperate.

Prohibition of trading for several days, officials said, might clarify factors causing the sharp drop in prices.

Uncertainty over the European war has been blamed as the major cause of the price losses.

Italians Advised to Leave Rumania as Foreigners Rush To Escape Threatened War

Yugoslavia, in a renewal of friendship with the U. S. S. R. notably lacking since the bolshevik revolution, has had a delegation at Moscow negotiating a trade treaty as a prelude to establishment of diplomatic relations.

Thereafter, it was reported, the Kremlin dispatched its note to Berlin. It was even rumored that a Yugoslav representative paid a visit yesterday to the Moscow foreign commissariat.

Also concurrently, the Rumanian ministry of interior—presumably intensifying efforts to stamp out "fifth columnists"—ordered all foreigners without work permits to leave the country and canceled permits issued before May 1.

At least 10,000 aliens were affected. Those not departing at once were to be interned in a concentration camp opened last night.

Greece, in stern preparation for any eventuality, called up another class of reserves—the 1935 class, which is made up of men 26 years old. They will report May 25.

The war ministry's explanation was that this group, reported to number 60,000, would receive a month's training "in the use of new weapons."

At Albanian Border
Informed military observers said most of the class would be sent to the wild, mountainous border fronting on Italian-occupied Albania, to bolster the already large number of troops manning fortifications against any possible Italian thrusts.

At the same time Premier General J. Metaxas of Greece held long conferences with the Yugoslav and Rumanian ambassadors, it was reported from Athens.

The Yugoslav envoy, Aleksandar Vukcevic, sounded out Metaxas Tuesday on what assistance Yugoslavia could expect from Greece in the event of an Italian attack.

Greece, Rumania and Yugoslavia, as well as Turkey, are partners in the Balkan entente.

Possibly Connected with the Balkan maneuvering was the report of a Stockholm newspaper, the Tidningen under a Moscow dateline, of rumors in the Soviet capital that Russia had made representations to

Acquitted of Slaying, Seeks Custody of Child

Chicago—(P)—Mrs. Aino Orge Tosavain, acquitted by a criminal court jury on a charge of murdering her 4-year-old daughter's foster mother, made plans today to regain custody of the child.

A jury of seven men and five women deliberated nearly seven hours before bringing in the acquittal verdict last night. The 35-year-old mother, a former Virginia Minn. resident, had admitted shooting Mrs. Mabel Buchanan in the juvenile court building on March 13 while they were awaiting a legal ruling on the custody of Mrs. Tosavain's daughter, Taimi.

The child, who is a ward of the court, had been placed as a boarder in the Buchanan home.

The defendant testified that her mind went blank after she had pleaded with Mrs. Buchanan to return her child.

"I'm glad," was Mrs. Tosavain's comment after her acquittal, "All I want now is to get my baby back."

European War Bulletins

London—(P)—Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin in a special broadcast tonight to allied forces at the front urged them: "Hold on until victory is in sight" and promised "men and material."

Paris—(P)—Premier Paul Reynaud in an address to the French nation tonight said that the German "pocket" had spread toward the west and the situation was "grave."

London—(P)—Exchange Telegraph company, British news agency, reported in a dispatch from Zurich that railway connections between Basel, Switzerland, and St. Louis, in France, a short distance north, were blown by last night by French military engineers. The railway there parallels the Rhine near the junction of Germany, France and Switzerland and the action was reported taken as a precaution against a German surprise attack on Switzerland.

Genoa, Italy—(P)—The United States liner Washington sailed today for New York with 1,100 American fugitives from the war fleeing her cabins and overflowing into her lounges. Most of those fleeing the war dangers were from the Balkans. Two thousand more are expected to follow soon on the Italian liner Rex.

Berlin—(P)—German naval units have mined South African ports, the high command announced today. The disclosure was made in a terse communique, which said: "Units of the German navy have laid mines before South African ports which are serving as bases for enemy naval units."

Paris—(P)—Defenders of Namur forts, isolated by the German advance, received a radio message of "profound sympathy" from the Belgian people today, it was broadcast by the Belgian radio station at Ostend.

Panama—(P)—The United States and 20 other American republics today characterized Germany's invasion of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg as "unjustifiable and cruel" in a joint declaration on the German drive through the low countries. President Augusto S. Boyd of Panama, whose government acts as a clearing house for Pan-American neutrality matters, published the declaration, on which the 21 republics reached agreement last night.

London—(P)—All government offices, headquarters of the British Broadcasting Corporation and key positions throughout Great Britain were placed under armed guard today against possible sabotage by fifth columnists or Nazi parachute troops.

London—(P)—A charge that the Germans had bombed a Red Cross column of 15 cars standing on an open road and machine-gunned stretcher-bearers trying to carry wounded into a trench was made today by the Netherlands legation.

Throw Waves of Tanks in Lines of French Troops

AIR WAR RAGES

'Greatest Battle of All Times' Still in Full Progress

BY JOHN LLOYD

Paris—(P)—The Germans, hurling wave after wave of tanks into the stiffening French lines, today widened the pocket they had carved out in the great battle in northern France but at the expense of what the French called tremendous casualties.

The French met the German onrush in the Verins and Avesnes sectors on the western side of the pocket with massed artillery fire, doggedly determined to inflict on their own heavy mechanized units.

The French war ministry spokesman estimated that at least half of Germany's entire mechanized army was making the drive into northern France—more than 2,000 tanks and armored cars.

Heavily armored German 80-ton tanks—impervious to any guns short of the formidable French 75's—have clashed at several points with France's famed "land battle-ships," military reports said.

The French declared their own tanks proved superior in combat where these giants have met.

Warfare In Air
British and French fighter planes, without regard to the Nazis' numerical superiority, were pitted against the hundreds of low-flying German machines which swept forward to support the Nazi ground forces.

Other allied fliers dumped what the French said were thousands of tons of bombs on the German communications lines and mechanized units assembling inside the pocket.

The "most gigantic battle of all times" is in full progress, the French war ministry spokesman said.

The French admiralty denied a German communiqué's assertion that a destroyer had been sunk and a cruiser damaged by German airplanes at the French port of Dunkerque.

The spokesman said the situation in northern France was "very serious, but not catastrophic."

"Great Rush" Resumed
"The great rush is on again," he said tersely, describing a renewal of mass attacks in which the Germans hurled masses of tanks, supported by planes, into the widening salient between the Sambre river and Re-thel.

Two columns of shock tanks were reported heading the assault—one hammering at the French lines in the direction of Avesnes and the other, said to be the more important thrust, aimed at Vervins.

The spokesman said that the French were resisting valiantly, and in the Vervins sector had halted the drive by counter-attacking with armored units.

Asserting that the new attacks were "formidable," the spokesman said it was only natural that "some" further territory had to be ceded under the weight of the assault.

There was virtually no activity in the Rethel sector at the southern extremity of the pocket, this informant said. There the German positions are some 100 miles from Paris.

Beat Off Attacks
East of Rethel, in the Montmedy sector, several local German attacks have been beaten off, he said.

Vervins is about 30 miles northwest of Rethel, at the apex of the Rethel-Sambre salient. Avesnes is due north of Vervins and about half way between that town and the Sambre river.

The withdrawal of the allied lines to a point west of Brussels, which was announced last night, was described by the spokesman as a strategic move.

The Germans, he asserted, had penetrated the allied lines in some attacks in this sector, but the general withdrawal was a planned "maneuver."

FDR's Strength Within 45 Votes Of Re-Nomination

Oregon and North Carolina Pledge Their Delegates to President

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt, in winning the Oregon preference primary over Vice President Garner and a third-term endorsement from North Carolina, ran his convention delegate strength today to within 45 votes of a majority for re-nomination.

Oregon's 10 convention votes and North Carolina's 26, gave him a previous total of 467 1/2, added him 56 1/2 with only 548 needed for the nomination. The Democratic convention will have 1,094 votes.

Democratic leaders said that in next Tuesday's New Jersey primary the chief executive would pick up 32 of the 45 required to make his nomination a mathematical certainty.

North Carolina's 26 delegates went into the Roosevelt column at a state convention.

Senator McNary, minority leader of the senate, was unopposed for Oregon's 10 Republican presidential delegates. Thus, the veteran party leader became the sixth candidate with delegates lined up for the Republican presidential nomination.

The others: Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, 98 pledged and semi-pledged delegates; Senator Taft of Ohio, 54; Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, 39; Hanford MacNider of Iowa, 22; and Senator Capper of Kansas 18.

A total of 530 Republican delegates so far chosen are uncommitted, including 13 named in Alabama yesterday and 92 from New York which are in dispute between Dewey, Frank Gannett, another New York state contender, and Kenneth Simpson, New York county Republican leader, who is not a candidate but has challenged Dewey's claims.

Five states—Arizona, Georgia, Maryland, Utah and Virginia—and the District of Columbia were to pick an aggregate of 65 more Republican delegates today.

Changes at State Reformatory Will Be Made in Fall

Vocational Training Facilities Will Be Expanded

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Changes in the state reformatory in line with new policies for the institution now under discussion will be made by the state department of public welfare beginning next fall, according to Frank C. Klode, director of the welfare department.

Klode recently disclosed the department's intention of expanding the vocational training facilities at the Green Bay detention institution for boys and young men, and he said here today that some of his plans will be put into effect within a few months.

He proposes to convert the present tailor shop on the reformatory grounds into a vocational training classroom, and to get legislative approval to use the newest reformatory building, designed as a stone working shop, for the same purpose.

He mentioned steel work as one of the probable innovations in the vocational education program at the institution.

Discussing his previously announced plan to expand the reformatory's prison farm program, Klode said that he believes the sites originally considered in northern Wisconsin are too far removed from the institution.

He said that welfare department officials are now considering the possibility of acquiring more land near the reformatory, preferably adjoining the present farm lands owned by the state in Oneida, which are now being cultivated by reformatory labor. "Then we might build a real farm colony for the reformatory," he observed.

Progressives May Narrow Field to Impede Gunderson

Believe Party Leaders Will Support Hull For Governor

BY JOHN WINGAARD

Madison — Efforts to narrow the field of prospective Progressive candidates for governor in order to facilitate the nomination of a man acceptable to the inner circle of the party leaders will be made at the Progressive state conference at Wisconsin Rapids this weekend, it was predicted here last night.

Progressive leaders have already held informal conferences in recent months to discuss the half dozen or more men who have designed their willingness, or their intentions, of running for governor, and the opinion has been general that if all of them run, the chances of a man who is opposed by most of the important party strategists will be immeasurably enhanced.

That man is Henry Gunderson of Portage, former lieutenant governor and tax commissioner.

Gunderson's candidacy has caused so much talk in Progressive circles that one recent conference of high ranking party men was called a "stop Gunderson" meeting.

Popularity Proven

Gunderson has effectively demonstrated his vote-getting power, and despite the fact that most of the other important leaders of the party are cold toward his ambitions, he was won a universal respect for them. In fact, many persons believe that in 1937 Governor LaFollette appointed Gunderson to him on the shelf. In that year Gunderson was taking suggestions about running for the senate, while the LaFollette favorite was Herman L. Ekern.

Progressives at Wisconsin Rapids this weekend will discuss the elimination of all but two or three candidates, it is felt, in order to minimize Gunderson's power.

John Thiel of Mayville, Harold Stafford of Chippewa Falls, Orland S. Loomis of Mauston and Senator Phil Nelson of Maple, all presently regarded as candidates, are believed to be amenable to such plans.

Progressive leaders are uncertain, however, about the reception of such a suggestion by Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, who is also ambitious to occupy the governor's chair.

In some circles it was believed that the inner circle of Progressives would decide in the end to support Congressman Merlino of River Falls, who is represented as anxious to round out a long career in public life with the governorship.

Hull, some Progressives feel, would have the best chance against Gunderson. Alfonsi has never run for a state office before, is extremely young, and is identified with some of the left-wing elements of the party.

SEEK HARMONY

Washington — (AP)—Representatives Hull and Gehrmann, Wisconsin Progressives, expressed a hope for harmony today in a joint message to a meeting of the Progressive party at Wisconsin Rapids, Wis.

Blaming the "pressure of events" for their inability to leave the congressmen telegraphed their greetings to Jack Kyle, chairman of the Progressive State Central committee on the occasion of the party's seventh anniversary.

"The work projects administration appropriation bill has come in to the house. It will not be formally acted upon before Monday," they explained. "Many amendments will be offered to it."

"Other important matters are coming up daily without notice. We do not think the circumstances will justify our leaving at this time."

"We extend to you and those of the convention our heartiest greetings and best wishes for a harmonious occasion."

"In these perilous times our state and nation are in need of the wise counsel, loyal purpose and patriotic action which the people have the right to expect of all progressives."

Former President Of Negro Congress Quits Its Councils

A. Philip Randolph Says Communists and CIO Dominate Group

BY W. B. RAGSDALE

Washington—(AP)—The trend of the National Negro Congress toward what he termed "domination by the Communists and the CIO" has driven A. Philip Randolph, a former president of the organization, out of its councils.

Randolph says, in material turned over to Representative Mitchell (D-Ill.), the only Negro member of congress, that because of these influences he refused to stand for re-election.

John L. Lewis, head of the C. I. O., was a prominent speaker at the recent Washington meeting of the organization, and Randolph says the C. I. O. contributed funds to the congress. He adds that an executive committee meeting of the congress was informed "that the Communist party contributes $100 a month to the congress."

Soviet Russia was pictured to the congress as a land without poverty or race prejudice, Randolph says, "but the fact is there are no Negroes in Soviet Russia that would undergo any manifestation of race prejudice."

"I quit the congress because I was opposed to linking it up with labor's non-partisan league, the political mouthpiece of C. I. O., since this was a departure from the original minimum program upon which there could be general agreement and a sound basis for rallying the Negro masses," he wrote.

"I quit the congress because I saw that the Communists were firmly in the saddle and the delegates were not subject to the influence of facts and reason."

Administration Is Considering New Wheat-Loan Setup

Roosevelt Acts to Halt Sharp Decline in Grain Prices

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt was reported by administration farm officials today to be considering a new growers' wheat-loan program designed to halt recent sharp declines in grain prices.

The week's slump was the most acute of this century, except for the 1933 decline. May wheat slid down to 86 yesterday and July wheat to 84, a drop of more than five cents, which made the week's net losses 25 cents per bushel.

While market authorities attributed the price declines to European events, agriculture department officials said today as accurate as possible, the 1939 loan program, with its price-sustaining effects, had expired.

Intensification of the German war drive also was credited with adding a dash of uncertainty to the otherwise fair outlook for domestic business in coming months. The bureau of agricultural economics declared a quick victory, especially for Germany, "would necessitate complete reappraisal of the outlook," but a prolonged struggle might stimulate American business.

A further drop of between 10 and 15 cents a bushel in wheat prices would make a loan program mandatory under the AAA act, officials stated. On the basis of present prices, the president and secretary of agriculture have discretion to initiate such a program.

Loan rates would be such that growers probably would prefer to store their grain and take a government advance, thus requiring grain buyers to offer prices as high as the loan rate in order to obtain any appreciable quantities.

Ickes Says Roosevelt Must Be Relected to Preserve U. S. Unity

New York—(AP)—Secretary Ickes declared today the continuance of President Roosevelt in office is "necessary to give a free people national unity at a time of grave crisis," and "to permit the New Deal's concept of social and economic justice to become an accepted part of our American system."

Speaking before the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America at the World's fair on the occasion of their twenty-fifth anniversary, Ickes said in a prepared speech that the people are looking to President Roosevelt for continued leadership "and will not be denied because they have the right—the right of democracy—to choose their commander-in-chief."

Census Omissions Being Corrected

Residents Calling for Blank; Debenack Urges Cooperation

Appleton residents who have not been interviewed by census enumerators and who live in wards where the survey has been completed are making an effort to correct the omission, it was reported today.

More than a dozen people in the last two days have called for census blanks at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce office, city clerk's office in city hall, or the Post-Crescent. With each blank, a person receives an addressed envelope bearing postage.

Charles Debenack, president of the Appleton Building Trades council, today asked "willing cooperation" from Appleton residents in the census.

Debenack said: "I am fully in agreement with efforts to give Appleton a census that is as accurate as possible. A careful count of the city's population will not only be of considerable interest to its residents but will be helpful in a great many ways. I urge willing cooperation among the people of the city with this survey."

The letter explained the company's property was near a state forest and that the state wanted to expand its holdings along "one of the great scenic rivers of the state."

"From the standpoint of the company the exchange was in the nature of a purely commercial transaction," the letter added. "They would part little to a tract of land in Sawyer county relatively remote from their mill for scattered state-owned lands, some descriptions to which are attached."

Headings in the investigation have been adjourned indefinitely.

Commemorate Marquette's Death Near Ludington, Mich.

Ludington, Mich.—(AP)—Historians, townships and high leaders of the Catholic clergy and laity turned back the calendar 265 years today.

They turned back to the time when all of Michigan was the undisputed hunting ground of the Ottawa and the Pottawatamies, when the vast pine forests were untouched by the loggers' ax and when the great overseas empire of Bourbon France was gaining its foothold in North America.

The occasion was the commemoration of the death, on the Lake Michigan shore, of Fr. Jacques Marquette May 18, 1675.

Most historians agree that the famed Jesuit missionary and explorer who, with LaSalle, blazed the trails for the pioneers of New France, died on a narrow and sandy isthmus between Lake Michigan and a smaller lake which now bears his name. The spot, only a few miles from Ludington, has been consecrated by Fr. Marquette's church, and, sometime this summer, will bear an impressive monument to the intrepid pioneer.

Today's pilgrimage to the reputed site of Fr. Marquette's death attracted approximately 50 priests and students from Marquette university, at Milwaukee; a delegation from the University of Detroit and one from Loyola university, Chicago. Impressive services were planned on the death site for this afternoon with Fr. Gilbert J. Garraghan, of Loyola university, appearing as the principal speaker.

The five and one-half acre tract, which has been dedicated to Fr. Marquette, is reached by a winding road and, from the crest, one can see far out over Lake Michigan. It was here, historians believe, that Fr. Marquette ordered his Indian guides to beach their canoe and make him a rude shelter for his illness. The tract recently has been accepted by the Michigan Conservation department as a permanent park.

Background of Proposed Land Deal Explained

Conservation Commission Files Letter With Research Bureau

Madison—(AP)—A letter from the state conservation department explaining background of its proposed land trade with the Tomahawk-Kraft Paper company was on file today with the division of departmental research which is investigating the department.

Under the proposed deal, which was the subject of inquiry at hearings last week, the state was to trade 9,034 acres of land in Vilas and Oneida counties, plus $24,911 cash, for 18,942 acres of land along the Flambeau river. The exchange never was made.

Testimony of research bureau witnesses was to the effect that the state undervalued its property about $8,568. On this claim the department's letter stated:

"To select special descriptions of land for report, and generally the highest valued ones, and in most cases a parcel subject to special considerations, is clearly an unfair and one-sided effort."

"The representatives of the conservation department stand ready in the present case, as well as in all others that have or may arise, to go right out on the ground to defend their work and recommendations."

The letter explained the company's property was near a state forest and that the state wanted to expand its holdings along "one of the great scenic rivers of the state."

"From the standpoint of the company the exchange was in the nature of a purely commercial transaction," the letter added. "They would part little to a tract of land in Sawyer county relatively remote from their mill for scattered state-owned lands, some descriptions to which are attached."

Headings in the investigation have been adjourned indefinitely.

War Situation Today

Antwerp, anchor of the Allies' northern flank, was claimed today by the Germans as Adolf Hitler's vanguards were reported to have carried the battlefield to within 60 miles of Paris. Nazi forces unfurled the swastika flag over Antwerp, DNB, official German news agency reported.

In German hands, Antwerp is a double-edged threat to the allies—a menace to their whole lines defending Paris, and a gate to the channel ports from which the nazis could loose an aerial blitzkrieg on England.

German tanks, armored cars and warplanes blasted deeper inroads into northern France but the allies indicated they were beginning to check the nazi thrusts.

The situation on the western front "is very serious but certainly no worse and possibly a little bit better" than yesterday a British spokesman asserted.

At least half of Germany's entire mechanized army was said to be leading the offensive in what a French war ministry spokesman called "the most gigantic battle of all times."

Retreat in Belgium was admitted by the allies but was explained as a withdrawal to conform with the situation in France.

Capture of 2,000 Dutch and French soldiers in Holland was reported by the nazi high command.

The Dutch commander on Walcheren island, in the southwestern Zeeland province, had offered to capitulate, it said, and several Dutch naval vessels were taken.

Striving to combat the nazi air superiority, France ordered all her aviation industries immediately on a 12-hour work day.

All Britain was grave. The British press called it the "darkest hour" since 1918 when allied armies faced defeat at the hands of the driving armies of imperial Germany.

In the Balkans, where there was no relaxation of the fear of war, there and elsewhere in Europe, foreigners scurried to repatriate themselves. Italians in Rumania were advised by their legation to return home.

In the western hemisphere the 21 American republics gave unanimous approval to a declaration of protest against nazi Germany's invasions of neutral countries.

Circulated by Uruguay, the declaration got a reaction of "unreserved adhesion" from the United States.

New Plan Intended to Speed Reporting of Road Violations

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Attempting to speed up the state highway safety program, the state motor vehicle division today outlined a plan of reporting traffic violations which will be submitted immediately to every county safety council and city safety committee or commission.

R. C. Salisbury, formerly of Oshkosh, and now new director of the state safety promotion division, said that joint participation of the county and all cities and villages within the county is contemplated in the plan.

He said that the project will be an improvement over the "vigilante" or "secret observer" systems of reporting violations.

Any person residing in the county who holds a driver's license is invited to join the county group sponsoring the program, he said, provided the motorist pledges himself to drive carefully, talk and promote safe driving, refuse to attempt ticket-fixing, familiarize himself with the county motor laws and report traffic violations with the full seriousness of such reports.

Identify Members

Memberships will include a metal plate designed for attachment to the rear license of the driver's automobile, an identification card and report cards.

The plate will bear the words "We Report Traffic Violations." In the center, the name of the local safety group at the top, with black letters on a background of tiny yellow beads which glisten at night. The plates are now available from the state prison at Waupun.

This "open" system of reporting is expected to be more acceptable to the motoring public than the "spy" system of limited and secret membership, Salisbury said.

Reports are sent to the safety council, which then will send a letter to the offender, asking cooperation in the campaign for safer streets and highways. A second and third letter will go out before the guilty person is reported to local law enforcement officers.

Salisbury pointed out that in spite of all the meetings, posters, education in schools, traffic laws and other efforts, death and injury from traffic accidents are increasing, and unless the driver himself feels that he is an integral part of the accident prevention movement, violations of traffic laws and safety rules will go on as in the past.

Miss Bungert also will present the "Gettysburg Address." The teacher is Miss Hildegard Conrad.

Middle West Shows Increasing Concern Over European Events

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Events in Europe may be depended upon to give President Roosevelt what he wants in the way of more national defense, because the shock of these appalling events is reverberating in the grass roots with a force that is causing rapid changes in sentiment.

From such typical isolationist states as Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Missouri comes word of a decided concern, which has been increasing during the last two weeks. If the news from Europe becomes worse, as it well may in view of the obvious state of alarm in Paris, there may be little left in the middle west of the comfortable idea that this is merely another European war that can have little effect upon us.

Herbert Hoover was reflecting the grass roots view last July when he was saying that, even if the dictators should force a European war and win it, there would be so exhausted that they would leave us alone for a quarter of a century at least.

But now the middle west probably is more in accord with the views of Governor Alf Landon and Colonel Frank Knox, two Republicans who have in general felt the same concern about developments in Europe that Mr. Roosevelt has felt. They are warning their Republican friends not to discount the strength of President Roosevelt's attitude. In Kansas, for instance, sentiment is growing for extending credits to the Allies. The situation has blotted out ordinary politics, and national defense is overshadowing everything else in interest.

Inevitably the demand will arise for a coalition of an adjournment of politics, but there are no immediate signs that the Republicans will fall in with the idea. "If there is going to be a third term politics won't be adjourned—you can bet on that," said one Republican congressman.

When President Roosevelt delivered his defense message in person at a joint session of the house and senate, Democrats carried 85 per cent of the applause while Republicans, for the most part sat in grim silence. Republicans will vote for the program. Indeed, minority Leader Martin immediately gave it his general okay save for some questioning of the "blank check" request for $200,000,000. But it hurts them to have to do it for Mr. Roosevelt, and some of them will insist upon calling the administration sternly to account for what they consider the woeful inadequacy of our defense today, in face of an expenditure of some $6,000,000,000.

G. O. P. Can't Oppose Roosevelt on Defense

However, the Republicans know they can't oppose Mr. Roosevelt on larger defense appropriations because they believe in defense—that's what makes them so bad, that they have to admit he is right.

The temper of the Republicans about adjourning politics was indicated in the statement of John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, when he said that there was no reason why the United States couldn't change horses this year, since both France and England have changed horses while actually at war.

He also reflected the attitude of most Republican leaders when he brushed aside suggestions, made by one prominent Republican, that the party's national convention be postponed until August. The postponement was urged on the ground that the situation would not be so confused by August. But other leaders who were consulted could see nothing whatever to be gained by a postponement, predicting that it will be just as difficult in August as in June for the Republicans to devise their position on foreign affairs.

The efficacy of the Republicans is that Mr. Roosevelt has been so right in expecting the worst in Europe. It has been worse even than he predicted. So, when he talks over the heads of people, we can reasonably expect news coming out of Europe just now.

But it hurts them to have to do it for Mr. Roosevelt, and some of them will insist upon calling the administration sternly to account for what they consider the woeful inadequacy of our defense today, in face of an expenditure of some $6,000,000,000.

Delinquent Income Tax Subpoenas are Issued

About 80 subpoenas, ordering persons to appear at the income tax office Monday and Tuesday for having delinquent state income tax returns were served Friday by Sheriff John Lopen and Under-Sheriff Frank Frank. The subpoenas were received from the state income tax office at Madison.

As he did in his defense message that St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha are only a few hours by air from Tampico, Mexico, and suggests that the possibilities that might arise from hostile air forces obtaining a foothold in the western hemisphere, he is apt to get a hearing. Particularly with such incredibly appalling news coming out of Europe just now.

The efficacy of the Republicans is that Mr. Roosevelt has been so right in expecting the worst in Europe. It has been worse even than he predicted. So, when he talks over the heads of people, we can reasonably expect news coming out of Europe just now.

But it hurts them to have to do it for Mr. Roosevelt, and some of them will insist upon calling the administration sternly to account for what they consider the woeful inadequacy of our defense today, in face of an expenditure of some $6,000,000,000.

G. O. P. Can't Oppose Roosevelt on Defense

However, the Republicans know they can't oppose Mr. Roosevelt on larger defense appropriations because they believe in defense—that's what makes them so bad, that they have to admit he is right.

The temper of the Republicans about adjourning politics was indicated in the statement of John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, when he said that there was no reason why the United States couldn't change horses this year, since both France and England have changed horses while actually at war.

He also reflected the attitude of most Republican leaders when he brushed aside suggestions, made by one prominent Republican, that the party's national convention be postponed until August. The postponement was urged on the ground that the situation would not be so confused by August. But other leaders who were consulted could see nothing whatever to be gained by a postponement, predicting that it will be just as difficult in August as in June for the Republicans to devise their position on foreign affairs.

Heil Invites Tourists to 'Wisconsin Vacationland'

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Inviting the world to partake of the pleasures and the beauties of "Wisconsin vacationland," Governor Julius P. Heil has attached a personal message to the several hundred thousand official state highway maps for 1940 put into circulation here this week.

The maps are available from the state highway commission, and limited quantities are furnished to members of the legislature for distribution to citizens.

"Here in the heart of the Great Lakes country with many inland lakes and streams, thousands of acres of forests, with the tang of the north in the crisp, pure air you will find relaxation, recreation and inspiration," Heil's invitation, topped with his photograph, in the new map edition advises motorists.

"Our cities are famous for their industries," the governor reminds map readers.

"Our workmen are mechanically inclined. They are a home-loving people and contribute to the thrifty appearance of our villages and the well-ordered beauty of our residential districts. From a scenic standpoint, this is a wonderland that beckons the traveler to linger a while on the shores of the sky blue lakes amid the sturdy oaks and the fragrant pines," the governor's eulogy continues.

"There is much for you here in Wisconsin," he concludes. "A friendly people will minister to your needs and contribute to your comfort."

Plans are Made For Organization Of Two Leagues

Former Industrial Teams May Play in New Young Men's Circuit

New London — Preliminary plans for the season's softball activities were stirred at a meeting at Washington High school Thursday night and further organization will be taken up at another meeting with R. M. Shortell, city recreation director, at 7:30 Monday evening.

Representatives of half a dozen groups attended the first meeting and plans were discussed for the organization of a senior men's and a young men's league. It is expected that a new young men's league will be organized from the remnants of the city industrial loop since the latter has ceased to be really an industrial set-up and the withdrawal of the Borden squad this year leaves it more disrupted. Sponsorship by merchants will be sought by the young men's groups.

Loss and Win

The high school softball team broke even in a double-header with Bear Creek High school at Bear Creek yesterday afternoon. They lost 6 to 5 in the eighth inning of an extra inning battle and won 7 to 5 in a second 5-inning contest. The first game stood 5-all at the end of the seventh with Glenn Becker and Dave Wilson forming the battery. Antonio Herres pitched the second game with Paul Poeple catching. Herres hit the only home run of the tilt.

New Voters Will Take Citizenship Oaths Tomorrow

Wisconsin Pioneers Movement for Recognition Of 21-Year-Olds

BY GEORGE TAGATZ
Madison — More than 10,000 Wisconsin youths will turn their eyes upon the stars and stripes Sunday, and solemnly take an oath of citizenship.

On this third Sunday of May, designated officially by the legislature as Citizenship day, young men and women who during the last year reached 21 years of age will pledge undying allegiance to the institutions and ideals that make American democracy.

And these will be the words they utter:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support the constitution of the United States and the laws enacted pursuant thereto, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties and obligations of a citizen of the state of Wisconsin to the best of my ability, so help me God."

Certificates of electorship, tangible reminders that they assume grave obligations in qualifying for the benefits of citizenship, will be awarded to the young folk.

19 Counties Cooperate

The ceremonies will be held in 14 counties. The following weekend five more county programs are planned, making a total of 19 of the state's 21 counties actively enlarging Wisconsin's pioneering venture to bring about greater "citizenship consciousness."

For Wisconsin, despite claims originating in California and elsewhere, stoutly maintains that Professor R. J. Colbert of the University of Wisconsin extension division began the movement now sweeping the country to mark with communal festivities the turning point between adolescence and voting age maturity.

The first community citizenship program held in Manitowish last spring attracted wide attention in response to inquiries from the other 47 states, five provinces of Canada, New Zealand, Australia, and London, England, the university's extension division has distributed information to nearly every corner of the world. Fourteen states have adopted the plan.

Congress recently recognized the movement by designating the third Sunday in May as "I Am an American day."

1,000 U. W. Students

Among groups of new voters will be about 1,000 University of Wisconsin students who will unite with other new Dane county electors in a program in the school's football stadium at Camp Randall. It is the first university in the country to sponsor an undergraduate citizenship training course.

Training materials for the Wisconsin plan have been prepared under the direction of Professor Colbert. His assistants are Professor Paul H. Sheets of the school of education, and Richard C. Wilson, state forum counselor of the United States office of education.

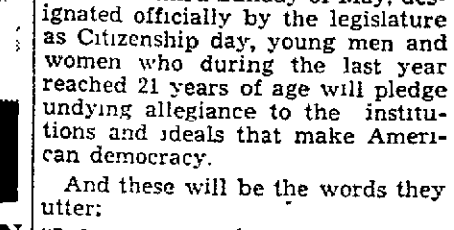

The program works this way: A county committee names a man and woman in each government unit to serve as discussion leaders. A list of new voters is prepared and they are invited to participate. The new voters meet, set up their own organization and carry on their own discussion program.

In other words, it is the new voters program, not one carried on by their elders. They may receive assistance from the discussion leaders, but in theory they are on their own.

Nucleus Established

After the groups have met four or five times, a county-wide convention of new voters is held. A permanent organization then develops a project such as a job placement survey of their county is adopted, and a nucleus for carrying on the program the following year is established.

The pattern for Citizenship day programs falls into two parts—a parade and the formal ceremony.

"Modern Dressmaking Made Easy" by Mary Brooks Picken offers a single volume the modern methods of planning and making attractive clothing. It outlines the elements that enter into successful sewing and presents chapters on patterns, machine sewing and ready-to-wear clothes.

The emergence of the ancient empire of China into a strong united republic with young modern leaders fighting for a new life for its people is the dramatic story in "News is My Job," by Edna Lee.

Booker, a correspondent of many years experience in the Orient.

One of the important non-fiction books of the year is "How to Read a Book" by Mortimer Adler. The book is meant for those people who are uneasily aware of how little they got from all their schooling.

The spontaneous life of John Murdoch and Sarah Slocum, who became his wife the day they met in Siler's Bend, Ore., roaming the Northwest wherever their fancy took them, is told by Stewart Ed-ward White in his tale of the early '90s, "Wild Geese Calling."

After several years of silence author Susan Glaspell has come forward with a powerful and unusual story, "The Morning is Near Us."

Miss Grace Fleischer, librarian, spent Wednesday at Ripon attending the convention of the Fox River Valley Library association. Miss Kathryn Wilkinson, assistant librarian, was in charge during her absence.

Hollywood—Dear Staff: 20th Century-Fox's sudden firing of Shirley Temple (her pay-off amounts to that) looms as a remarkable example of the film industry's lack of business gumption.

I said in my column the other day: "There's nothing wrong with Temple that good pictures can't cure." But high officials of her company, pointing with alarm to failure of her recent films to attain big profits, are blaming every one but themselves.

The studio habit of hastily discharging or buying-off stars whose pictures aren't piling up vast profits is ridiculous. Time after time such firing has boomeranged. Look at Janet Gaynor's sensational comeback after being let go by the same company that is now releasing Shirley. Look at Marlene Dietrich's return to fame.

MGM has the sensible point of view. When top stars at that studio begin to slide, B. Mayer blames himself and his associates. "We're not giving our star proper support," he says. "Let's get together; let's provide better vehicles!" L. B. & Co. did that with Joan Crawford and Greta Garbo when, had these actresses been employed by other studios, they'd probably have been "bought off."

PREPAREDNESS IS SECURITY

What danger threatens America or its institutions if it prepares its defenses now upon the supposition that it may be called upon to protect the Western World?

Our country may be imperiled if we postpone our readiness to meet violence with violence until the attackers appear in the sky.

We are not among those who are jittered into hysteria by a war 4,000 miles from Appleton. We do not believe there is any reasonable chance that such war will be transferred to these shores. But the amount we must pay for preparedness is a very trivial premium for the insurance. And the feeling of security that will ensue to our citizens will make less likely the conclusion upon their part that their first line of defense is on the Rhine.

The world today is rocked by hurricanes of force. Logic, reason, charity, mercy, are on the ground or in the mud. Tyrants do have respect for some nations but only those nations they fear are able to cope with them.

In 1917 if America had an army of a million men it would never have received the attacks upon its shipping and its people that fevered its blood into declaring war. But when the previous World War broke out our country did absolutely nothing except preach pacifism. To men of the mailed fist this was most welcome. The German autocrats sized America up in 1917 and said: The country has no army and probably will not go to war despite what we do, but even if it went to war it would take years to build a force strong enough to bother us.

In a world spotted with despots who control tremendous hordes of fighting men we should make preparations having in mind our splendid position of isolation and that our entire course of action is motivated by the purpose of defending the Western Hemisphere and staying within its confines.

Pacifists argue that if we have a considerable military establishment we will develop a tendency more quickly to go to war elsewhere. The only particle of good argument in this statement is the risk that is attendant in all democracies upon the people losing their heads or being directed by false leadership. But that hazard exists in every affair of life. It might as well be argued that the people in a democracy may go mad and destroy their government without any reason whatever, for certainly they always have the power so to do.

The people should welcome the material alteration in America's policy in respect to preparedness over the feeble methods that persisted during World War No. 1.

SAVING UP THE GOATS

There are two sides to that injunctional suit brought to prevent the use of goats to test the new and destructive explosive called glinite.

The inventor claims that life within a thousand foot radius of the point of detonation will be killed or incapacitated when a great glinite bomb is touched off. But to test this claim living things must be risked.

We are not informed just what arguments were used at Baltimore but there are two strong ones that might be submitted against the use of goats for the test.

In the first place it has been considered the inalienable right of man to be shot to pieces in respect to everything connected with war. Only incidentally has man brought other animals onto or near the battlefields. Horses had to be employed to pull up the guns, and dogs and pigeons were sometimes used to convey messages. But man has been almost broken to pieces to see a horse or dog shot although it has not been difficult to withstand the sight of thousands of broken human bodies.

It should be added that goats can ill be spared in this critical year on an election. We are going to need them on every street corner so that our noble rulers could go ba-a at them as they passed and the goats could go ba-a right back. Unless we have a super-abundance of the real nannies all over the country the next best thing America can do is pray that glinite will not be as destructive as its inventor claims and the goats may butt their way about this fall.

CITIZENSHIP DAY

"Freeze, freeze, thou bitter sky,
Thou dost not bite so nigh
As benefits forgot;
Though thou the waters warp,
Thy sting is not so sharp
As friend remembered not."

Wisconsin has pioneered in the establishment of Citizenship Day, a custom that has spread rapidly throughout the country.

It is argued that young men and women as they approach 21 should not be permitted to merely sink over the majority line when they have in fact, by their age alone, assumed an important status and taken on a considerable burden. The lawmakers were of the opinion that a little more formality by way of impressive services, would aid in making these youths, and naturalized citizens as well, more conscious of the fact that they are also custodians of their nation's welfare and architects of its future.

These are satisfactory enough reasons for the services and the day. But it strikes us that the greater share of the appeal to the new citizens should be directed to that quality in human nature known as gratitude. And that since the pioneers are gone, the armies of Washington, Grant, Sherman and others but a memory, the nation itself should succeed to the thankfulness each citizen owes to the spirit of the valiant departed who, because they were what they were, suffered what they suffered, toiled endlessly to construct a durable nation, have made possible the present day.

The American people do not noisily declare their superiority nor boorishly insist that Heaven carved them out to lead the human race. Yet it is fit that by a comparison with other nations new citizens should become conscious that the progress of a people when guided by democracy and attended by toleration has outstripped all other human efforts, wherever located.

Every new citizen should come to feel that Fortune has smiled kindly upon him by placing him in America and that he owes the duty to see to it that that same Fortune may continue to smile upon unnumbered millions yet to come.

Cicero said that gratitude was not only the greatest of virtues but the mother of them all. Gratitude has something about it that even justice, pale and melancholy at times, lacks. For gratitude bubbles with life and bears the bloom of eternal loveliness.

Citizenship Day is primarily a day of gratitude.

THE VALUE OF THE WRITTEN WORD

In spite of the hundreds of thousands of corpses that already litter the battlefields there is one phase of the Reich's methods that is bound to hold the eye in fascination and may even produce a thin and grisly grin.

Only twelve months before Denmark was invaded a beautiful new treaty was signed between Copenhagen and Berlin by which each solemnly vowed it would not violate the territory of the other. Such a treaty existed with Poland, too, and of course, with Norway, Holland and Belgium.

But Holland and Belgium were concerned ever since last fall about the movement of German troops so in November Berlin told them to forget the matter, that no trespass upon their soil was even contemplated. Then in January the tramping of armed hosts upon the German side of the border led to another Dutch and Belgian scare. But the German warlords smiled disdainfully as a father might at frightened children and assured them again in the most solemn manner that any charge of German aggression was mere French propaganda. Even a few days before the actual blow the German government told foreign newspaper correspondents in Berlin that no attack on the low countries was even considered and that charges of troop concentrations along the borders were false.

Then came the zero hour. Coincident with crossing the borders the Germans issued a statement impugning to the Allies the purpose of invading the low countries.

No one outside Germany believes the statement and hardly a German could believe it unless he were soused to the ears. Why then go through the motions of this ridiculous rignarole? Is it just presented as actors speak their written piece upon the stage?

And yet some years hence, when the war is over and the world at peace again, the Germans will wonder why other nations do not trust them and will become bitter at the hostile glances turned their way from every direction of the compass and perhaps for a generation.

A Verse for Today

"THE LITTLE TOWN THAT TIME FORGOT"

"The little town that Time forgot"
Is dreaming in the summer sun.
It is a verdant garden spot
Where happy children run.

The wheels of progress have not cut
Into these fields of pulsing green.
No factories pour smoke and shut
The light away from this loved scene.

"The little town that Time forgot"
Is linked forever to the Past.

The DAILY WASHINGTON
MERRY GO ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—U. S. intelligence reports have worked out what they call the "Hitler Time Table" giving the approximate time at which he will attack each country. The time table is based upon hitherto reliable information received from the German military, who have been extremely frank, if not boastful about their ability to overrun Europe.

According to this time table, Hitler will wait about six weeks to consolidate his bases on the Dutch coast, then launch his air armada against Britain.

However, the time table was worked out some time ago, and some observers believe that Hitler's swift victory over Holland will be so devastating, that the Nazis will move against England within a very short time.

Regarding the outcome of the attack, U. S. military strategists are extremely pessimistic. They believe that with its tremendous air armada, Germany can subdue England in relatively short order.

WORKING HARD

It is interesting to compare the old rumors about President Roosevelt's health with the way he is working under the war strain. He has worn out most of the men around him.

Two days before Hitler invaded Holland, there was a false alarm that German troops had crossed the border. So at 11 that night, Sumner Welles, fast asleep, gave a call on the private White house phone to his bed. Roosevelt was up. He asked Welles to come to the White house.

The president remained up and busy on the transatlantic telephone until after 2 a. m. Two nights later, when Hitler actually moved into Holland, Roosevelt finally went to bed at 3 a. m. But more reports kept coming in, so that he remained in bed awake. The last report arrived at 4 a. m., when Ambassador Bullitt called him from Paris.

By 8 a. m. the president was up again, and by 8:30 had signed the executive order freezing Belgian and Dutch funds in the United States. Then he put in his regular day, plus time taken out to receive the Belgian and Dutch envoys. Finally, at 5 p. m. he stopped work and began dictating the speech he was to deliver to the American Scientific conference that evening.

This was finished about 6:30. Then while the speech was being typed, Roosevelt took a swim, snatched a bite to eat, and delivered his speech at 9:30 p. m. He had kept going for almost 24 hours.

WHO'S NEXT?

A Latin American ambassador who is popular in Washington social circles was receiving the condolences of his friends just after Hitler started to blitzkrieg Holland.

"Too bad for you," his friends said. "South America will be next. Hitler will want to take your raw materials."

"Too bad for me?" shot back the ambassador. "You mean too bad for you. You are the upholders of the Monroe doctrine. You are the powerful leader which dominates the Western hemisphere and keeps us together."

"Therefore, I suggest that you take note as to what happened in Europe. Did Hitler invade Rumania and Yugoslavia first? No! He went for Great Britain, the key to the British empire. Norway and Holland merely were steps nearer the British coast. For Hitler knew that once the British empire fell, all the small countries of Europe would surrender. England was their leader and protector."

"Thus it will also be in the Western hemisphere," the ambassador continued. "If and when Hitler decides to move across the Atlantic he will drive straight for the United States, nerve center of the Americas. For he knows that once he has subdued the 'protector of the Monroe doctrine,' then all the countries of Pan America will fold up and come under his wing."

Note—Whether the ambassador is right or not, a good many U. S. army and navy strategists are working along this line of national defense.

AMATEUR CHEF

Senator "Honest Vic" Donahey of Ohio is quite an amateur chef, and once invited a group of newspaper friends to partake of his culinary skill. First item on the menu was what Donahey called a "reilly delicacy." But he smilingly refused to divulge its ingredients until the guests had tasted it.

"This is one of my masterpieces," proclaimed the senator. "It's something none of you, I'm sure, has ever tasted before. I want to get your reactions."

The boys were at bit chary at first. But after a few exploratory nibbles found the dish savory, and ate with gusto. As he signaled for the next course, Donahey asked, "Well, how do you like it?"

"Fine," said one of the newsmen. "Tasted a little like chicken. What was in it, senator?"

MERRY GO ROUND

Chin-Fu Woo is urging a third term for Roosevelt. As editor of the Chinese Nationalist Daily, New York, he is playing to rally Chinese Americans. "... Pinch hitting for Garner in the presiding chair of the senate, Senator Lundeen of Minnesota dawkled with a paper knife, then picked his teeth with it. ... Thirty years ago, a young man named James Mead came from Buffalo to Washington to take a job as a capitol policeman. He was befriended by another policeman, James Reilly. Today Mead, a senator, is trying to get a raise for Reilly, now dean of doorknockers. ... Airplanes have brought a mosquito from Africa to Brazil which is spreading malaria up and down the Amazon. Public health director agree that if not checked it might decimate the population of South America. ... Traffic moves slowly around the capitol these days. Bicycles crowd upon crowds of high school tourists. (Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Opinions of Others

TO END THE SILVER FOLLY

Nothing more encouraging has happened in congress in recent months than yesterday's vote in the senate to discontinue government purchases of foreign silver. The whole silver policy has been idiotic from the start. The foreign aspect of it consisted of buying at inflated prices, vast quantities of metal for which we had no use whatever. This practice was defended on the ground that it "created purchasing power" for our goods abroad. It did. But the price was paid by our own people. We gave foreigners our automobiles and our cotton and our locomotives and our electric-power generators and our other useful raw materials and manufactured articles, all of which were very desirable to them. And we took in exchange their over-valued silver, which we buried in the ground. The whole process, a policy of deliberate self-improvement, could have been accomplished just as easily if the treasury had bought foreign sea-weed or salt water.

The repeal bill now goes to the house, where it ought to be passed promptly.—New York Times.

Remembered happiness has brought Bright sunshine that will last.

The hope of days gone by, release From care, and joy were folded down Into a land, to bring forth peace, When Time forgot the little town.

A Bystander
In Washington

BY JACK STINNETT

Washington—Those proverbial small towns where gossip flows over the back fence with the speed of a new, gathering new, twists and tangles as it crosses each yard, can't hold a megaphone to Washington.

Within the space of three hours I have heard "authentic" reports of a super-super munitions lobby's control of congress; a Nazi Trojan horse scheme to sabotage upper-crust British politics; and an elaborate plan to blow up the Panama canal by a suicide crew sailing an apparently harmless fishing smack.

Also, that Mrs. J. Wentworth Trave, or has pawned the crown jewels to finance the American Bolshevik revolution; Senator Doakes is the real fuhrer of the Christian Front; and our government is really controlled in the drawing rooms by the American equivalent of the Cliveden set.

Also, that a prominent Hollywood actor who frequently portrays historical characters is America's No. 1 Communist, and Shirley Temple is a Japanese spy.

Such things may seem far-fetched but they are no more fantastic than some of the tales that wag their way into the best Washington circles. It takes more than a couple of pinches of salt to catch facts in Washington and a gent has to be pretty sly to keep his nose for news from slipping down to a neck for noose.

Duty Vs. Politics

Still, a correspondent is neglecting his readers if he doesn't sift this chaff. The trouble is that governments are run through politics and politics mean axes to grind. Sometimes the grinding constitutes misrepresentation of facts. Sometimes it's for the public's good. Occasionally the public's headcho. Occasionally the Washington commentator can apply his secret formula and turn up a little pure gold—but more often he has to deliver crushed ore in bulk, with the warning: "Danger. This may be dynamite!" or "Here it is, take it or leave it."

A good many years ago, William Howard Taft and Teddy Roosevelt, old friends politically and personally, parted ways. The quarrel was important to Washington and vital to the history of politics. Yet no commentator, no historian has been able to ferret out the facts. And the only two men who KNEW now are dead.

History repeated itself when FDR and Al Smith drifted apart. In spite of all the able journalistic hunkies who are here to mine the news, the story behind that chapter may never be more than a guesser's guess unless the two principals tell the story as it was.

All this is no preamble to a story worth recording—at present moment anyway—but here's a modern example. An anti-administration Democrat whose sincerity is not in doubt went to some logical lengths to explain, "but not for quotes," under what circumstances President Roosevelt would run for a third term.

He KNEW, he said—never mind how—that the President had made up his mind to run, but only if the Republicans nominated Dewey. The President left, said my informant, that Dewey might develop into the most effective vote-getter the GOP could put forward, so effective in fact that he, Roosevelt, might be the only Democratic candidate who could defeat him.

Ergo, to save the New Deal ideology and foreign policy from the uncertainties of an administration headed by a youthful, inexperienced, untried executive, the President would run again. All this, my friend, emphatically pointed out, was no reflection on Mr. Dewey, but rather a compliment that only he should be worthy of a third-term scrap.

Well, my way, you see what I mean. Do you wanna trade jobs?

BOW AND ARROW HUNTING

Editor Post-Crescent—In this article I do not wish to criticize the bow and arrow hunter too much. I want to bring out a few points of sportsmanship. We know that there have been a few deer killed by bow and arrows, but I would call that nothing but luck. You will tell me that you can hit a bull's-eye at 50 yards or whatever it may be, but what are your chances of bringing down a deer. It takes the hitting power of a high caliber rifle, and a well placed bullet to drop any of our big game animals. Sure, tell me that you can drive an arrow right thru a deer, but if you don't hit a vital spot you won't bring him down, and if you did hit one you would not be able to track him, because the time your season is on it's almost a sure bet that there isn't any snow. Even if there was snow there wouldn't be enough blood out of an arrow wound to do any tracking. So what happens to the deer if he is hit? Naturally he will die at sometime without benefit to anyone. Our game is diminishing fast enough without bringing this sort of thing into our hunting arena. We know that there are some men in the country who never miss with a bow, but if this sort of weapon is so good why didn't the Indians keep on using it. It must have been a smart bunch of men that convinced the Conservation commission to allow a season for this sort of hunting.

WE HAVEN'T ENDED THE LAST WAR

Under the
CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—The Roosevelt-Farley Democratic convention delegates at a caucus last week adopted a resolution endorsing National C ommittee E. Broughton for reelection to another, and a third term, but not a word did they make public on their choice for the position of national committeewoman from Wisconsin.

According to spokesmen for the delegation, the decision has not yet been made, and public mention of it was avoided in order to prevent controversy among the delegates. Any exogenous bickering among the Broughton men, it is clear, will endanger the national committeeman's chances for reelection, for his margin of strength, if any, is slender.

However, it is said without qualification that the delegates will take the word of Mrs. George Givan, present committeeman, that she doesn't want the job any longer. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Givan's statement is probably inspired by the realization that her chances for retaining the position are pretty remote anyway, principally on account of her work on behalf of the candidacy of McNutt.

PROSPECTS

Most prominent prospect for the job is Mrs. Henry Schwalbach, wife of the Milwaukee customs collector. There is no assurance that she will get it, but she wants it, and with her long record of thus far unknown labor for the Wisconsin Democratic cause, it is likely that her demand will be granted.

That there will be other applicants is probable. One of them may be Mrs. John Dunn of Green Bay, a leader of women's Democratic activities in the Eighth congressional district.

GRAUNKE

During his visit to the Fox river valley, where he made a speech to Outagamie county Progressives last week, Walter Graunke of Wausau left the definite impression that he will run for governor this year if Phil LaFollette does not become a candidate.

If Graunke runs he may add a few new wrinkles to the Progressive campaign, for among other things, Graunke believes in an overhauling of labor legislation, and in legislation making milk and other basic Wisconsin farm products public utilities, according to his discussions with valley Progressives.

And in contrast to some of the highly vocal Madison representatives of the party, Graunke insists on a rigid neutrality policy which will keep the country out of war at all costs, according to reports of his Kaukauna meeting.

DIPLOMACY

During a recess in the conservation department investigation hearings in the capitol this week, Chief Researcher August Frey chided in your bow to drive an arrow right thru a deer, but if you don't hit a vital spot you won't bring him down, and if you did hit one you would not be able to track him, because the time your season is on it's almost a sure bet that there isn't any snow. Even if there was snow there wouldn't be enough blood out of an arrow wound to do any tracking. So what happens to the deer if he is hit? Naturally he will die at sometime without benefit to anyone. Our game is diminishing fast enough without bringing this sort of thing into our hunting arena. We know that there are some men in the country who never miss with a bow, but if this sort of weapon is so good why didn't the Indians keep on using it. POTASSIUM CHLORIDE

I am sorry to report, writes Genevieve B., that I tried potassium chloride without benefit for one week. Miss B. goes to the trouble of sending a postcard, but doesn't tell us anything after all. She doesn't say what she tried it for, nor how much she took, nor how often.

B. T. B., on the other hand, drops a card telling that he found my "Relief for Allergy" (monograph available on request if you enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address) very effective. He had not been able to eat eggs or anything containing eggs for a long time without getting giant hives, but since taking soluble potassium chloride the doesn't say how much nor for how long he can eat anything without discomfort.

After suffering for three years with severe eczema, Miss J. M. W. tried potassium chloride soluble, as I suggested in the monograph mentioned. The irritation was much relieved by the third day, and now the eczema is all healed except two little red spots. The treatment also cleared up hay fever long before the end of the season last year.

James B. reports that last season while suffering from hay fever he tried my suggestion of potassium chloride. He had it made up in capsules, five-grain strength, and found it very effective. But he has been compelled to stop taking it because of cramps in the stomach. Like many others James B. did not follow my advice at all. I warned against taking tablets, capsules, pills or powder, and specifically directed that the dose be dissolved in a glassful of water which is nearly tasteless, to avoid just the irritation James B. suffered from his improper use of the medicine. Also I have repeatedly warned that ordinary potassium chloride tablets are almost insoluble, but both five-grain and ten-grain tablets specially prepared for this purpose are available, and these are labeled Soluble Potassium Chloride.

Mrs. B. S. has taken potassium chloride five days and notices much relief of violent sneezing spells and difficult breathing at night.

E. H. M. reports considerable improvement in chronic sinusitis from which he has suffered for four years, after ten days of potassium chloride treatment.

Mrs. H. C. W. says her husband had sinus trouble which developed from a "cold." After the third or fourth tablet his sinus trouble cleared up completely.

The fourteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. A. W. M. found relief of asthma and hay fever from which she has suffered from infancy, after three or four doses of potassium chloride soluble. She was free from hay fever all last summer, for the first time in her life.

A. M. began taking potassium chloride at Christmas time and has had almost no distress from asthma since. He had undergone much special treatment but with little benefit.

One thing about this medicine—it is practically as harmless to try as would be so much sodium chloride (common table salt). In the monograph "Relief for Allergy" I explain to the best of my knowledge why it brings relief to so many sufferers from allergy.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What causes canker sores in the mouth and how can they be prevented or relieved? (Mrs. E. C.)

Ans.—I do not know. I have a theory that nutritional deficiency may be a cause—especially insufficient intake of the essential vitamins. And local injury may be a direct cause—as by rough use of toothbrush, or injury by hard or sharp food, bones etc. Best treatment I know is daily touching of each sore with iodine and glycerin, half and half, and constant use of warm solution boric acid as mouth-wash, especially before and after eating. Teaspoonful boric acid in pint boiled water.

What is the best way to disinfect bed clothing, sheets, pillows, after a contagious disease? (Mrs. B. E. S.)

Ans.—Boiling. Ordinary laundering and ironing disinfects any such clothing or bed clothes. Soap and water is ample—no noisome or poisonous chemicals need be used.

Dandruff

Please publish again the recipe you gave a year or so ago for dandruff. It had rose water, sulphur and some kind of acid. I think. It gave great satisfaction but we can't find the recipe now. (S. T. A.)

Ans.—Part hair here and there and rub into scalp on fingertips a little of the ointment or pomade, using one-fourth of the scalp each night. One night a week shampoo. Continue for three to six weeks to control dandruff. Precipitated sulfur 1 dram Salicylic acid 20 grains Ointment of Rose Water One ounce If it is properly made no particle can be felt between the fingers.

Calcium

The pain I have, from decalcification, is bad enough in the daytime but at night it makes me lose sleep. Can a person get additional calcium into the system when in this condition? (J. C. B.)

Ans.—You do not explain why you think your pain is due to decalcification. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask for monograph on Right Calcium Diet. Calcium Feeding, Vitamins Everybody Needs. Vitamin D is essential for assimilation, utilization and retention of calcium.

50 Executives Attend Dinner Closing Institute Conference

The executives conference of the Institute of Paper Chemistry closed last night with a banquet at North Shore Golf club at which golf trophies were awarded.

Two traveling trophies, each a wood engraving of "The Papermaker," were presented. The winners were W. Irving Osborne, Jr., of the Cornell Wood Products company, Cornell, Wis., and C. J. McNair, Jr., of the Northwest Paper company, Cloquet, Minn.

President Thomas N. Barrows of Lawrence college presided at the banquet at which H. D. Purdy of Appleton presented a slight-of-hand act. About 50 men were present.

The banquet closed a 2-day meeting during which the executives toured the institute, talked with students and faculty members, and heard students discourses on subjects they are dealing with in master and doctor degree work.

The executives, representing paper mills and allied industries throughout the United States, found better weather yesterday for golfing activities at North Shore.

For those who wished to remain another day, the institute faculty members were ready today to discuss various problems on the paper industry.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the institute Wednesday night preceded the conference.

Many American Ambulance Drivers Seeking Adventure

New York.—A yen for adventure is drawing a lot of young Americans to Europe as volunteer ambulance drivers, a group of them acknowledged today as they sailed on the liner Manhattan.

They gave that explanation despite the protestations of Volunteer Ambulance Organization officials that they were going abroad to work for a "cause."

An enrollee of the American Volunteer Ambulance corps, Robert Scott Raymond, Jr., 27, said he was going partly out of sympathy for the allies but principally because he had been selling furniture for his father for six years in Kansas City and had "gotten kind of tired of it."

Another of 14 A.V.A.C. who sailed with William W. Hutchinson, 27, of Madison, S. D., said he had just returned from traveling in 28 countries, getting material for a book, and "I wanted a little adventure, so I hooked up with this outfit." He ignored the interjection of an A.V.A.C. official that "that isn't why you're going—you're going to help this cause."

Eight volunteers for the American Field Service in France likewise gave "adventure" as their main reason for signing up.

Another of the Manhattan's 192 passengers was former Belgian Premier Paul van Zeeland, a World war veteran, who has been here on European relief work. He said he was going to get off the boat at Gibraltar and "rush to join my king in the army. . . I'm just so boiling inside I can hardly talk."

Among the American field service volunteers was Frederick H. Prince, 3rd, of Marshall, Va., grandson of the Boston financier and son of a founder of the Lafayette escadrille.

Be A Careful Driver

Americans Probably Would Shoot at Parachuters Too

BY WESTBROOK FEGLER
New York—When the Germans were smashing through Poland without the formality of a declaration of war many patriotic Polish civilians were captured and quickly executed for sniping the invading nazis. As to whether they actually did snipe the Germans there is only the word of the Germans themselves. But let it be assumed that they did take pot shots at the faceless men.

Under the code ironically known as the rules of civilized warfare civilians who fire on the soldiers of an invading army are subject to the death penalty, but only if the invader has declared himself. The Germans had not declared war on Poland, nor have they yet done so. Their method has been to invite an invaded nation to "cooperate," which is their word for surrender. They obtain a certain advantage by this, but the people, including the women, of the invaded nation by the same process deserve the right to shoot them on sight. If the Germans were a civilized people the civilians would enjoy the status of captured soldiers should they fall into the hands of the faceless men.

The Germans have threatened reprisals at the rate of 10 to 1 for the killing of their parachute soldiers who fell into the hands of the Dutch, but the paradox creates a new problem, even though his country shall have formally declared war. He is dropped in communities where there are only civilians, and his mission includes the killing of civilians, who probably will be unarmed, in order to spread terror and permit the capture of a few men at important points in the rear. What else would he be doing there?

To localize the problem let it be assumed that a group of German parachute soldiers suddenly appear in the outskirts of some small and peaceful city in Iowa. There are no American troops near for this is a blitzkrieg, but by way of admonition, the Germans shoot a few American civilians. In these circumstances would it be unreasonable to expect that everyone with a household pistol, a hunting rifle or old military weapon would try to draw a bead on a faceless man, or that the local racketeer, in a passion of honest patriotism, would whip his Thompson gun out of the golf bag and strike a blow for freedom?

And if this happened would these civilians subject themselves to execution by the invader if they should be captured and eventually squeezed on by the local nazi bundsmen?

It would seem to make a difference, too, to comply with the old formulae, it would be possible, in war with the chosen people of the Reich, to swear in the entire American population, male and female, as members of the armed forces, with only a uniform brassard for identification, thus reserving for the civilians in their home communities the rights of combatants.

That provision would seem to cover the case very neatly, and the distribution of a few arms in the household would help. True, the civilians would assume the risks of the war, but don't they anyway? Aren't they bombed and shelled and subject to shooting by the parachute troops?

As to whether the parachute soldiers met death in action or after surrender there would be no immediate need for discussion. It is a fine point, anyway, and one that would have to be worked out later. The important thing at a critical moment would be to remove the danger in a town peopled by civilians and having a capacity for patriotic indignation.

There are two problems here: One is the ground soldier of any army not formally at war with the invaded country. Any civilian has a right to kill him, and if a German platoon were to walk down an important street of, say, Atlanta, at high noon today, shooting promiscuously and setting fire to the buildings the civilians would react as the ground soldier did.

The other is the parachute soldier in a civilian area regardless of whether a formal state of war exists. Being landed among civilians, his mission obviously is to kill civilians and help capture their country. There being no soldiers about, the civilians surely will do their best, and the question of the invader's rights will be put on the spike until civilization can get around to it.

Norwegian History Coupled With Plea for Democracy as Norse Club Sponsors Program

An uninterrupted progressive social and economic development has constantly manifested itself in Norway from the adoption of its own constitution in 1814, until a few weeks ago. Dr. Oskar Tjalling, a native of Norway and educational director of Midland Cooperative, said in an address last night at Moose hall on a program sponsored by the Norse club for the benefit of the Norwegian Relief fund. It was a country in which the highest degree of freedom, equality and brotherhood prevailed, he said.

Dr. Tjalling who formerly was a professor at Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, sketched briefly Norway's history to explain the significance of May 17, the anniversary of that country's independence.

Pointing out that Norway began its history as an independent kingdom more than 1,100 years ago, Dr. Tjalling said that about the time of Christ the southern and western part of Norway was settled by people whom the sagas say came from a land north of the Black Sea in the southern part of present Russia, bringing with them a high culture for those days, a well developed form of government and a set of laws regulating the rights and responsibilities of their citizens.

Separated in 1814
The speaker explained that Norway was united with Denmark for about 400 years, a union terminated in 1814. Denmark was at that time defeated in a war with England, and Norway was intended as a gift to the Swedish king. However, the Norwegians adopted their own constitution on May 17, 1814, and refused to join with Sweden except as a free and independent nation. Until 1905 Norway remained united with Sweden under one king, but at that time it became again a free and independent nation with its own selected king. Dr. Tjalling added.

"The constitution as adopted in 1814 provided for a democratic government as we have it in the United States," the speaker explained. "What happened in Norway on May 17, 1814, had already happened in America July 4, 1776. These two dates, therefore, have the same significance, namely, freedom, independence and a democratic form of government."

With a plea to help preserve democracy everywhere Dr. Tjalling concluded, "Let us resolve that 'government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth.'"

Following the address seven reels of motion pictures of Denmark, Sweden and Norway were shown under the direction of B. E. Mayenhoff. Mrs. Gordon Bubolz sang two numbers accompanied by Mrs. Floyd For. John Craft of the Institute of Public Chemistry spoke briefly of Norwegian freedom and the need for making it a reality again. Community singing of American and Norwegian national anthems took place.

A buffet lunch of coffee and Norwegian delicacies was served and Miss Genevieve Thulien and Mrs. Bubolz poured. The refreshment committee was composed of Mrs. Albert Kormose, chairman; Mrs. Ray Kirkeide, Mrs. O. J. Thompson, Mrs. H. M. Tonnell, assisted by Mrs. John Graff, Mrs. A. A. Jackson, Mrs. Howard Melby, Mrs. Gordon Sherman and Mrs. Tjalling.

Work Being Pushed on Water And Sewer Project at Manawa

Manawa — Manawa residents apparently are satisfied with the manner in which the waterworks system and sewage disposal plant has been progressing since operations began two months ago.

Somewhat skeptical at first because projects similar to the one here have encountered innumerable difficulties in other communities, townpeople have been watching activities from day to day with a critical eye.

Construction of the sewerage plant on the banks of the Little Wolf river just below the old condenser is the latest project to get underway. The footing of the service building has been completed and work on the main part of the building will commence soon. The structure will be 18 feet square of either brick or stone and will be the headquarters for the attendant in charge of the plant. It will be equipped with sludge pump, shower, wash bowls, lavatories and materials to make various tests, along with other equipment.

Other compartments of the sewerage plant include a screen or cutting apparatus, aerator, digester and sludge bed. Work on the digester has already begun and the footing is expected to be poured Saturday.

A digger and shovel which the village obtained two weeks ago, has speeded up work on the ditches for the water and sewer mains. The machine is capable of handling 600 to 800 cubic yards a day and does not necessitate sheeting the ditches, as formerly, to prevent caving in.

Water mains have been laid along Bridge street to Fourth street and from Depot street to Fourth. The same trenches were used for both water and sewer mains along Manawa's principal business street in the downtown section, while on Depot street the sewer mains are being laid on the east side of the pavement and the water mains on the west side.

The water tower will be constructed on High street on property owned by Henry Flater. The structure will ascend 104 feet above the ground from the base to the top of the tower. It will be equipped with 60,000 gallon water tank. Selection of the well site on property owned by Frank Smith on Walnut street has already been made by the village board and a suitable supply of water has been obtained, both in quantity and quality.

Approximately 100 men are now employed on the project. Carl A. Anschuetz is the WPA superintendent and Earl Ulrich is in charge of activities for the A. E. McMahon Engineering company.

Herbert Kratzke of Clintonville, employed on the waterworks project here, was suddenly stricken Wednesday morning while at work and fell to the ground. He was unconscious for a short time and after receiving medical attention was taken to his home at Clintonville.

BOOK REVIEW 'Country Lawyer' Is Amusing Biography by Clever Author

—By Jean Wiley Thickens

"COUNTRY LAWYER" by Bellamy Partridge.

There has been such a shower of biographies about medical scientists of recent years that it is a pleasant variation to find a representative of the legal profession with something of this recently published biography of his father is doubly welcome. Mr. Partridge already is the author of three quite successful biographies: "Sir Billy Howe," "Amundsen" and "The Roosevelt Family," "Country Lawyer," however, because it is the story of his own family, has an added charm and an intimate atmosphere lacking in his earlier books.

Bellamy Partridge's father was a Civil war veteran. Shortly after the close of hostilities and already burdened with a wife and infant son, he started out in search of a village which seemed to hold promise of success for a struggling young lawyer. He had no wish to compete with another and longer established member of his profession. The upstate New York village of Phelps appeared to answer his requirements. The only other legal gentleman whom he found already on the ground was old Mr. Hobson who heartily welcomed the newcomer and threw many cases (many of them still unpaid) in his way.

Typical Village
Phelps in earlier days had been known as Woodpecker village but at the town expanded, added a sawmill and several civic improvements the village fathers decided its name unsuitable, and voted to take the title of the county in which it was located. Phelps was a typical village of the horse-and-buggy era.

West 1st, Terrors 5th at Relay Meet

Appleton Cops Medley Event Without Being Pressed
GETS 29.6 POINTS

Don Heinritz First in the Shot and Second in The Discus

BY GORDON MCINTYRE

WINNING four out of six relay races and scoring heavily in the field events, Green Bay West High school romped away with first honors in the Fox River Valley conference relays on the West track last night. The Wildcats far outdistanced the field getting almost twice as many points as the second place Fond du Lac team.

West counted 84.64 points, Fond du Lac 45.92 points. Green Bay East 44.5, Oshkosh 30.42, Appleton 29.6 for fifth place, Sheboygan Central 20.5 and Manitowish 14.14. No records were broken or tied.

Appleton's points represented a first in the medley relay and in the shot, a second in the discus and scattering points in other events.

Take Medley Relay
The Terrors took the medley relay, the one for which they had pointed, without being pressed. The team ran the first heat of the event, was far ahead all the way and might have done better if pressed. Rollins started the race doing the 220 and gave Bowers a lead for the 440. Then Cooper protected the advantage for the half mile after which Vogt galloped the mile as he pleased.

Appleton was fifth in four relays and failed to place in one.

Big Don Heinritz set the pace for the Terrors in the special events. He tossed the shot 48 feet, 9 inches for a first place and was leading in the discus until Luker, Oshkosh, nosed him out on the final throw. The winning distance was 126 feet, 9 inches with Heinritz 5 inches in arrears.

The Terrors washed out in the 100-yard dash, and the broad jump. They earned a share in a couple of points in the high jump and pole vault.

NOTES ON THE MEET
The meet was a gathering for all the coaches from this section and they held several "sessions" before the events started. Many were interested in Class D ball and there was more than a little feeling that the high schools should start baseball now that all the cities have good parks. A league playing in May and through June was one suggestion.

Guy Sandt of the University of Wisconsin was the starter. Some of the menors growed that he was "holding" the runners too long and prolonging the meet. Incidentally, the track events started more than 30 minutes late. Also, the gun didn't work every time the boys ran half a mile and then almost an entire race before they finally ran one that was "kosher."

The first squawk came in the shuttle relays when it was found one line of hurdles was out of place. A couple of the lads almost broke their necks. When you run a hurdle race and find that after so many steps there are no hurdles

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

(There's been very little out of Madison the last few weeks about the football situation at the University of Wisconsin. The latest estimate is the following by Hank McCormick of the Madison State Journal. So we'll pass it on for what it is worth.)

If you care to have this writer's opinion of what stood out in that varsity-freshman football game last Saturday at Camp Randall you have only to keep on reading.

If you don't give a hang what I think of that game, then skip the rest of this column.

As you can see the writer is going to give off a few opinions.

The things that stood out in this writer's mind were three:

1. The complete attitude of the veterans who probably had had more than their fill of football this spring and who

2. The remarkably quick way in which the freshmen reacted to situations as exemplified by their intercepting pass after pass and by the speed with which the yearlings' downfield blocking formed on each occasion.

3. Defensive power of the freshmen as illustrated in the two goal line stands they made in the third quarter.

It would be an injustice not to include one other point, this one not a general comment. That other point was the play of red-headed "Pat" Lyons, freshman left end.

If you happened to see that game—there must have been all of a hundred people there outside of the players and coaches—you witnessed a great individual performance, and I want to assure you that what you saw was not an unusual demonstration on the part of young Mr. Lyons.

May I add at the outset that this same young Mr. Lyons is one boy over whose eligibility the Wisconsin coaching staff need never worry.

When the good folks in Horizon not only contributed a fine athlete—he's a great hurdler in track—but they also gave the university an exceptional student.

Lyons is one of those boys you can't go wrong on. Unless he is crippled by injuries the Horizon red-head is going to become a great end.

Blessed with the speed of a jackrabbit, a flaming competitive temperament, and a swell pair of hands, Lyons can grab passes in a way to give the defense fits.

At the start he was weak on blocking tackles, and he still has much to learn here, but the point is that he is learning and will continue to learn.

He's like Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers in many ways; there are times when his charge is so fast that he has the defensive tackle pinned before he can say "Bill Robinson—if any defensive tackle is so silly as to attempt saying a name like that."

There are more robust ends at playing a smashing defensive game, but Lyons is no chump at protecting his flank.

And when it comes to covering punts—well, you haven't seen a boy like this in a long time.

Not only has he the speed to cover punts and the elusiveness to get away from blockers, but he is a savage and accurate tackler when he sights the receiver.

So much for "Pat" Lyons.

Well, I regard the second and third as more important than the first, but one should qualify any praise of the freshmen by admitting that it was in comparison with a pretty lethargic group of veterans.

I can't regard that first point as crucial, though I may easily be wrong.

However, the writer has had his share of experience in and around college football teams, and I wish to state at this time that the beautiful Saturday afternoon in the middle of May is no time to bring out the football desire in a veteran.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher doesn't see eye to eye with me there, but I think that's a point upon which Harry might better take somebody's opinion than his own.

Bue, as I said, I don't think it was too important that the veterans were somewhat disinterested in the entire matter Saturday afternoon, for that is an attitude that belongs in May and won't be over into September.

Whereas the quick reaction time of freshmen and their flaming spirit should certainly be improved in September.

In a Milwaukee paper I observed that Coach Stuhldreher was quoted as saying that potentially this was the best squad he has had at Wisconsin.

He hasn't spoken out quite that bravely of his prospects to this writer, but that may be only because he didn't want to duplicate material he already had handed out to another writer.

Or maybe he didn't want that fact known generally in this fair city which is easily moved to enthusiasm.

But newspapers and transportation being what they are, the word came back to Madison just about as soon as Milwaukeeans read it.

And while most Milwaukeeans viewed the message with vast disinterest, your correspondent and many other football fans of this community regarded the message with considerable excitement.

Even coming by way of Milwaukee, Coach Stuhldreher's view of the Badgers is somewhat more optimistic than mine.

Rookie Bats in Winning Marker For Milwaukee

Brewers Score 6 to 5 Victory Over Minneapolis Millers

MILWAUKEE —(U)—Rookie Barney Walls batted in the deciding marker of a 4-run rally in the eighth inning to give the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association a 6 to 5 victory over the Minneapolis Millers yesterday.

Russell (Red) Evans, who has three victories to his credit this season, was enjoying a three-run lead and holding the Brewers well in check when Claude Corbett set off the rally with a single, his third hit.

Hal Peck then doubled and Paul Dunlap and Les Powers rapped out singles to drive in two runs and send Evans to the showers. After Ted Gulie's fly in of Walter Tauscher, the rally was finished with the tying run, Walls, clinched the game with his single, scoring Powers.

The victory was credited to Bob Kline, who relieved Jimmy DeShong, Brewer starter, in the sixth, when the Millers scored three runs on four hits to take a 5-2 lead.

Special to P.C.
FOND DU LAC—Appleton and Fond du Lac put on an extra special hot ninth inning here before 1,000 fans Friday night, and when the lights were turned out after 3 hours and 10 minutes of play, Fond du Lac had a 6 to 5 victory to its credit.

Going into the ninth frame on the short end of a 2 to 1 score, the Papermakers put together four walks, a single by Outfielder Ivy and a 2-base error by Outfielder Jim McCarthy for four runs and what looked like a Wisconsin State league victory.

The Panthers pounded back in their half with four runs. Newton led off with a single and Duex and Nelson drew passes. Millinski, who replaced Kapp in the fifth, left in favor of Tomich. Newton scored on McCarthy's forecourt but Dvorak was walked filling the bases again. Nelson and McCarthy scored on a bloop hit to left field. Polasky then walked and with the sacks dripping, Wang laid down a bunt toward first base and Dvorak sailed in with the winning run.

Russell Gresens, an Appleton cast-off, kept the Papers well in hand until the seventh when single by Hoffman and Hawks, a sacrifice by Millmaki and an infield hit by Ivy scored a run. Gresens was removed in the ninth after walking Kapp and Maze. At this point, Mueller came in and walked Malwig. Ivy then punched out his single and went to third on the 2-base error. Ivy scored when Mueller threw wild to first.

TURN IN TRIPLE PLAY
Green Bay —(U)—The Wisconsin Rapids White Sox trimmed the Green Bay Bluejays in a Wisconsin State league baseball game Friday night, 5 to 3 and executed a triple play in the process.

With two men on base in the second inning, Shortstop Knybel speared Novak's liner, touched second and tossed to first for the three way killing.

Sheppard, on the mound for the winners, was wild, issuing seven walks, but his mates backed him up with errorless ball.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Appleton Gettelmans at Kimberly.
Neenah at Appleton.
Kaukauna at Oshkosh.
Manitowoc at Menasha.

LITTLE CHUTE—Four teams will open their home schedule Sunday afternoon in the second week's play in the Fox River Valley league. Kimberly will be at home to Appleton Gettelmans, formerly the Athletics. Wallie Murphy and Co. will be host to Neenah at Appleton's Spencer Street park. Manitowoc will invade Menasha, and Kaukauna Mellow Brews will journey to Oshkosh.

Kimberly will have the usual opening ceremony with the band expected to pep up proceedings before and during the game. Manager Sonny Wildenberg has practically the same lineup that topped the 1939 championship. The exception is Bill Peetter, who cavorted at second base, where Tuffy Horn has taken over. Pete Wildenberg replaced Horn in the outfield. Besides these two, Buck LeMay, Sven Bowman, Hofkens, Eddie Wildenberg, Kobs, and Vander Heiden make up the squad.

Lefty Behr and a newcomer, Boucher, are ready for mound duty. They allowed Neenah six hits between them last Sunday and are in form for the opening home game. Sonny Wildenberg will be on the mound.

Gettelmans also have practically the same team which topped the Winnebago title last season. The two teams met last year under the lights at Spencer Street field in an 11-inning battle. Kimberly topped the decision, 1 to 0.

Neenah or Fredericks
Bill Norfolk or Lefty Fredericks will start for Neenah. A former Kimberly man who will appear in the invasion lineup is Baker Verstegen who plays second base.

Another battle is expected at Appleton when Bill Handler's Neenah Merchants invade Spencer Street field to battle Bubs Tavern team. Manager Wallie Murphy is expected to start Lefty Green on the mound with Eddie Helms on the receiving end. Green's looked good at Manitowoc in a relief role allowing only five scattered hits in five innings. The rest of the lineup may show Cotton at the initial sack, Miller at second, Orville Wensler at short, Weber at the hot corner, and Burton, Pope and Tom Murphy in the outfield. Green's Christofferson of Menasha is ready for the pitching call with Cash or Gartzke receiving.

Menasha Falcons will be host to Manitowoc and will be gunning for the Shipbuilders. The Falcons were rudely handled by Kaukauna last Sunday and are in a jovial mood. Connie Mack Berry, Johnny Knoll, or Joe McKeel will be on the mound with Badger Nadelny, veteran of the Falcons. Fred Kaloski will don the mask and big mitt.

The visitors have Butch Kohl on the mound and he is a strapping fellow who tips the scales around 235 pounds. Kohl was with the Manitowoc team in the Northern State league last season but signed with the Valley loop. Stokely will be on the receiving end.

If the Kaloski brothers, Frank and John, are able to duplicate their feat of last Sunday when they will be in the thick of the pennant fight before the first half is settled.

Kauks at Oshkosh
Kaukauna's fast stepping aggression, under the watchful eye of Major Antler as manager, will take Oshkosh to battle Mangers and Co. The Sawdust city tribe wallowed Gettelmans of Appleton last Sunday and show a powerful team at the plate.

Klobner and Mugerauer will form the home club's battery while it will be Diederick and Strick for the Electric City team. The Kauks have a well-balanced lineup with every man able to handle one for extra bases. This was proved in last Sunday's battle against Menasha when Kaukauna collected 21 hits for 18 runs. Joe Strick was the only man to go hitless but he walked 5 times. Joey Vols, Ikky Van Drasek and Carl Schuler each hit safely four times. Ves Kappell and Schuler contributed homers.

Kimberly Middlets in Third Straight Win
Kimberly-Holy Name softball Middlets won their third consecutive conference game Friday at Kaukauna by defeating Holy Cross, 10 to 7. The Papermakers are now lone possessors of top honors in league standings.

Larson pitched for Kimberly and held Kaukauna to nine hits while Ristau, pegging for the home club, was nipped for 17 losses. In addition to doing a fine job on the mound, Larson also got 3 hits which included a triple. Bouessa, Paper-Tayk, first baseman also got 3 hits. The most spectacular play of the day was made by Carl Schuler of Kimberly, who stopped a blazing line going over third and his throw beat man to first for the put out.

Next Tuesday the Middlets will play St. Mary's Kaukauna.

Parenti, Rapids Manager, Is a Veteran of Minors

IT HAS been said that high-priced ball players are usually a disappointment, while the good ones cost little or nothing. That was the case with Frank Parenti, manager of the Wisconsin Rapids White Sox.

Quite a few years back, Joe Maley, then a major league pitcher, was talking with Harold Meyer, president of the Wilkes-Barre club of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

"I know a second baseman, and a good one, you can get for nothing," said Maley. It was Parenti, in touch with Parenti, signed him to a contract and gave Maley a suit of clothes for the recommendation.

Frank turned out to be one of the greatest second basemen in the history of the league. He played out the 1927 season with the Barons, but did not get along with Mike Konnick, the manager, and was sold to the Eastern League the following year.

During his absence, the Barons fans, remembering his great play, continually called for the popular Chicago Italian. A few years later, 1931, to be exact, the Barons had a chance to get him back and they jumped at it.

He started in right where he had left off in 1927. That year, the club had a new shortstop almost every week, but he worked the same with all of them. He was a great hand to figure in double plays and a great favorite with the Barons fans.

He carried on until 1936, and it was with real regret that the Wilkes-Barre patrons read of his retirement during the early part of 1937.

Billy Webb, farm supervisor for the Chicago White Sox, who lives in Chicago, was manager in the NYP loop when Parenti played there, and with the organization of the State league, Webb induced him to come out of retirement and take over the Wisconsin Rapids reins.

He played out the 1927 season with the Barons, but did not get along with Mike Konnick, the manager, and was sold to the Eastern League the following year.

The DOG OWNER and HIS DOG

BY ALLAN KERR
HERE'LL be many a forgotten dog as the vacation and week-end outing season gets into full swing. Some of the more fortunate family pets get to accompany the camping, fishing or touring party. But many are turned over to relatives, neighbors, friends, or boarding kennels, and a few are pushed out of the house to shift for themselves.

The latter can be termed little more than a lousy practice. It is probably done most often by persons who should not have a dog at all. They are the sort who will pay nothing for the pet in the first place, and after they have it, begrudge the animal the little food it may consume and the time required to give it proper care.

From such households come the forlorn little waifs that are seen poking their fuzzy muzzles through the cages at the city dog pounds. Those homes also provide the dogs that bring about complaints of scratched up lawns and damaged shrubs. They are often the ones guilty of having unwanted litters of mongrel puppies, which are given away only to grow up to a life of similar disrepute.

Smart dog owners who find it impossible to take their pets with them on trips usually depend upon a good boarding kennel to render them proper care. They know that this is a business with the kennel owner, that he is capable and understands dog care, as well as being equipped to keep his charge from getting away to become the victim of a traffic, or other accident.

Neighbors Not So Good
It isn't reasonable to expect a neighbor or friend to willingly accept the responsibility of caring for another's dog. He may do it for the sake of the friendship, but he isn't enjoying the experience, as a general rule. If he has never had a dog of his own he may know very little about the handling and feeding.

Whenever the dog is left, it is a good idea to make sure that your name and address is on a tag attached to his collar. The person in charge should be told the dog's name, what commands are used, and what food he is used to. It is wise to follow a similar procedure when a dog is sold, for then the new owner will be able to start in with the seller left off, rather than go through the effort necessary to establish an entire new routine.

A well-trained dog, that isn't too large, may be taken on a trip without too much trouble. Hotels and resorts are becoming a great deal more liberal in their attitude toward canine guests, and some of them even go out of their way to provide care and comfort. The wild untrained animal is of course a nuisance to everyone.

Some dogs are inclined to be car-sick when traveling, and there are various suggestions offered from time to time on how to lessen this tendency. Some say to feed pepin tablets. Others tell you to let the dog lick on a chunk of ice. We know that allowing no food or water for five or six hours before the ride is often very helpful. If the condition is chronic it might be a good idea to see a reliable vet.

When a stop is made to allow the occupants of the car to refresh themselves don't neglect to give the canine traveler the same opportunity. You can take 'em with you but they should be treated like the excellent companions they really are.

Madison Loses To Moline, 7-1
Clinton Takes Over First Place in Three Eye League

By The Associated Press
Clinton's fast-stepping team was in first place today in the Three Eye league with a record of 9 victories in 11 games, giving them a full game lead on Springfield.

Springfield, which won its first seven games of the season lost its second straight last night, 8 to 2, to Cedar Rapids. The winners not only have five hits off Chuck Creamer, the victory placed Cedar Rapids in a virtual tie for third place with Evansville and Decatur.

Clinton, scoring four runs on the fourth inning capped by John Tomcoff's home drive defeated Evansville, 5 to 4.

Waterloo still looking for its first victory of the season lost a heart-breaker to Decatur, 8 to 7, in 12 innings. In the first half of the 13th Decatur scored four runs on home runs by Claude Wright and Ben Neidson to take the decision despite Waterloo's desperate three-run rally in its half of the frame.

Home runs by Al Montgomery and Ray Olsen paced Moline to a 1 to 1 victory over Madison in the fourth game of the night. Schubert gave the losers only four hits.

The Illinois defeated the Hoosiers yesterday, 4 to 2, and if they sweep the series Northwestern would have to win all of its three remaining games to prevent a tie for the title.

John Pacotti held Indians to four hits to give Illinois its fourth straight conference victory. Northwestern, however, has shown no signs of faltering in the stretch. The Wildcats racked up their seventh consecutive triumph yesterday with a 10 to 9 victory over Wisconsin.

The Badgers threatened to tie the score in the eighth but Fred Rosch relieved John Goldak on the mound and throttled the attack.

Gophers Win, 9-0
Minnesota, another contender, with an outside chance at the title, moved into fifth place by shutting out Chicago, 9 to 0. It was the Gophers' third straight whitewash decision in the conference. Bill Anderson yielded only two hits.

Michigan advanced into a third place tie with Iowa, the defending champion, with an 11-inning victory over Purdue, 6 to 5. Two errors on one play enabled Fred Trosko to score from first base with the deciding tally.

Ohio State fell before Notre Dame 4-0, and Iowa defeated Michigan State, 8 to 4, in two outside games. The same teams play again today.

Today's league games mark the conference season's end for Chicago, Purdue, Indiana and Wisconsin, in addition to Illinois.

The standings:
Team W. L. Pct. Runs Rf. Op.
Northwestern 7 2 .778 71 44
Illinois 8 3 .727 88 60
Iowa 6 3 .667 55 33

Yanks Cross Up Strategists in Blasting Lefty

Joe DiMaggio Hammers His First Home Run of Season

By The Associated Press
HE world champion New York Yankees, currently in the American league cellar, crossed up the baseball strategists yesterday by bombarding south-paw pitcher to defeat the Chicago White Sox 6 to 1.

So today, observers were advising rival club managers to scout out some new tricks quickly.

There was no doubt in the first month of the season that any kind of left-handed slinging would befuddle the Yanks. The champions faced lefthanded hurlers in 14 of their first 20 games and lost 10 of them.

But things are different now. During the gloomy days, the Yankees' batting order had five lefthanded hitters (six when Alie Donald or Vernon Gomez pitched). Yesterday there were only two and the club turned on the power.

Their second straight triumph raised the Yanks within a half game of the seventh place White Sox. Like the previous victory, yesterday's was at the expense of a south-paw, Edgar Smith.

Joe DiMaggio, who returned to action last night, hit his first homer of the year for two runs in the first inning and in the fourth the team collected four more, two of them on a triple by Colonel Buster Mills. Bill Dietrich took charge for the Sox in the fifth and pitched a two-hit shutout ball for five innings but too late.

In the day's only other game in the American league the Cleveland Indians massacred the Washington Senators 16-1. They piled up 10 runs in the first inning on seven walks and five hits and added more as they went along, with Jeff Heath hitting two homers. Al Milnar pitched seven-hit ball and easily snared his fourth consecutive victory.

In the best pitching stunt, however, Claude Passeau held the New York Giants to two singles in giving the Chicago Cubs a 4-0 shutout. Passeau had a no-hitter until the sixth. Joe Moore got both New York hits. Bill Herman hammered and Passeau himself doubled two runs across.

Hack Hit By Ball
The game was marred by an accident in the first inning when Stanley Hack of the Cubs was hit on the head by a ball batted by teammate Hank Leiber. Hack was knocked unconscious, but the injury wasn't as serious as at first believed and the player was due to be released from a New York hospital today.

A heroic home run with the bases loaded in the eleventh inning was Ival (Poison Ivy) Goodman's good deed for the Cincinnati Reds and helped break up the game with the Phillies 7-2. Boom-Boom Beck held the Reds helpless for seven innings but in the eighth Frank McCormick hit a two-run homer to tie the score.

Brooklyn managed to edge out the St. Louis Cardinals 4-3 in a strange game. Whit Wyatt, batted out of the box in the first inning two days before, went the route and held the Cubs to seven hits including a two-run homer by Don Padgett. Brooklyn got only six hits off three pitchers, but homers by Babe Phelps and Dolph Camilli accounted for three runs.

New London to Meet Truckers

SOME POINTERS ON LAKE TROUT

By Buell Patterson
I DOUBT that a very high percentage of our fresh water fishermen appreciate the many fine qualities of the lake trout we have on that these fish are among the greatest fighters in the world. Most of us know how good broiled lake trout tastes, but we go no further in our appreciation.

Lake trout require deep and cold water if they are to thrive and consequently are found at their best in our Great Lakes. They go down to the cold, deep water as soon as warm weather sets in and aren't seen by those anglers who confine their efforts to fishing on the surface.

There are many deep inland lakes which have the lake trout population but the Great Lakes furnish by far the best lake trout fishing grounds, although some of the larger Canadian lakes are well filled with these dandies.

In the spring and for a few days in the fall lake trout can be caught on the surface type of lures and near the lake shores. At other times the most certain method for catching lake trout is deep trolling. If the ground is a good one the lake trout will strike and no great skill is needed to get them to hit. It does take skill to land them, however, for they are skilled fighters and so stubborn in their battles to get free that they never give up while they have any strength left.

These trout usually will hit on any form of spoon or flashy bait such as the spinner styles. They will strike on plugs and other forms of artificial lures and on live baits, but the spoon is the accepted lure in most sections.

Lake trout lie close to the bottom where the water temperature suits them best and the successful angler must get his lures down to where they are. They won't rise any great distance to strike. This means that weighted lines must be used. The size of the sinker depends upon the depth of the water fished.

The accepted method of fishing is to troll slowly with a rod and reel equipped with either a stout line or a copper wire. A triangle is placed on the line above where the bait is to be attached. The top of this triangle the line is made fast, while at the bottom the weight is attached. The extended tip of the triangle is reserved for the lure itself.

The weight should be let down to the bottom and then kept moving along by the motion of the boat in trolling. The weight should be approximately eighteen inches or two feet below the triangle and the lure should extend back from the triangle about the same distance.

When a lake trout strikes, the angler should hit back hard to sink the hooks fast, as the trout has a tough mouth and will give battle for a long time. An insecurely hooked fish is almost certain to get away in the long battle which will come.

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Seymour at Manitowoc (a. m.)
New London at Clintonville.

MANITOWOC—Two games are on the baseball menu in the Northern State league this Sunday. Seymour comes here to cross bats with the Ships in a morning combat at the Fair grounds while Clintonville will open its season at home against the New London High Lions.

The fracas here with Seymour was shifted to an a. m. argument so as not to interfere with the Citizenship ceremonies in the afternoon. The invaders, boasting one of the strongest battle fronts in the loop, will use their veteran battery, Weisgerber and Lamers. Manager Al Borths of the Manitowoc aggregation will pin his hopes on Hesik and Simon, with Lefty Feltman in reserve for mound duty.

Clintonville is planning a big celebration for the opener with New London. The Clints, champions for two seasons in the Northern State, have been cuffed in their first two starts but Manager Sid Felts feels confident that his outfit is about set to break into the victory column. It will probably be Decker and O. Krohn for the High Lions. Felts expects to start for the Four-Wheelers with Gene Volkman on the receiving end.

Ken Wilda, Manitowoc right fielder, has gone wild with his stick in the first two games and has accounted for six hits in eight trips to the plate. Posewitz and Meyer, both of Two Rivers have made five bingles in 10 times at bat while Vnuk and Suscha, a pair of Manitowoc clouters are both credited with four out of eight while Rollie Kersten, Clintonville captain and third sacker, has got a quartet of safeties in nine times up.

Leads for New London with three blows while Zuldmeider and Jacoba top the Seymour attack with two apiece. Both clubs have played only one league game.

State Social Hygiene Lecturer Gives Talk At Forest Junction

Forest Junction—Miss Aimee Zillmer, Madison, social hygiene lecturer with the state board of health, and chairman of social hygiene in the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, addressed the monthly meeting of the McKinley Parent-Teacher association of McKinley school here Friday evening. She had returned a week ago from speaking at a meeting of the national congress at Omaha on May 7, 8 and 9.

Referring to the fact that evidence of social diseases are noticeable on ancient Egyptian mummies, and that the diseases are not peculiar to any time or generation, Miss Zillmer warned against over-emphasizing present day evils merely because our present facilities for gathering statistics outweigh those of the past.

Five points were recommended for parent-teacher groups in their attitude toward the matter of social hygiene, namely, a normal point of view cultivation of will power in adolescents; questions and answers as a means of securing information; a sympathetic attitude toward boy and girl relationships; and the spreading of sufficient knowledge on venereal diseases so as to eliminate fear.

About fifty members and visitors were present for Miss Zillmer's lecture.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

SATURDAY TALK
One night a radio report stated that this offer had been made: A million dollars is offered to anyone who will capture Adolf Hitler and take him to the League of Nations for trial as a traitor. That was an early radio report. Later, a corrected newspaper account stated that Hitler was to be tried for "High crimes against peace."

Many persons would be glad to obtain a million dollars. Probably there are even more who would like to "capture" Hitler, or in some other way keep him from doing what they think is harm to the world.

For years Hitler has been under close guard. Hundreds of men have been given the special task of keeping him from being shot or poisoned. We are told of "doubles" who have appeared in public, making believe they were Hitler.

It is possible that a double has gone to Austria and several other places when the outside world was informed that Hitler, himself, went there.

In the case of the Munich meeting last fall, it is not at all likely that a double took Hitler's place. His old Nazi comrades would have found out the truth quite easily.

A time bomb exploded shortly after Hitler left the Munich meeting. One report said it missed him by only eight minutes. There is little, if any, doubt that the bomb was meant for "der Fuehrer."

To capture Hitler today would be a hard task. He is guarded with more care than ever before. Yet many things which seem impossible are really possible. Some clever, skillful group of men might perform the deed.

If Hitler were put on trial as a "traitor," it is not certain he could be proved guilty. Some persons say he has been a traitor to the human race, but they would have a hard time showing he has meant to be a traitor to Germany. In fact he has been extreme in his efforts to build up a big Germany.

Building a big Germany may be Hitler's idea of helping his country, but most persons outside of Germany think he has done more harm than good to his own people. A nation does not become truly great by crushing its neighbors. Sooner or later a nation which tries that will ruin itself.

'Hot Lips' on the Trumpet Busse To Play at Waverly Wednesday

A single song gave Henry Busse, Waverly Beach Ballroom on Wednesday, May 22. The title of this song was "When Day is Done" and his unique rendition of this number on a phonograph associated for years and to which he had won instant recognition and dance band which he brings to national popularity for Busse. His

New Feature in Refrigeration Is Offer of Hotpoint

Prices Lowest in History Says Kafura Electric Company

A new feature in refrigerators termed "measured humidity", introduced in the new 1940 Hotpoint, is believed by many to be the year's outstanding advancement in home food preservation, points out Kafura Electric Service, 405 W. College avenue, Hotpoint appliance dealers.

By providing the correct combination of cold and moisture, "measured humidity", in Hotpoint's 6-way cold storage compartment, keeps meats, fruits, and vegetables in prime condition far longer by providing exactly the right combination of moisture and cold, ending all worries concerning food spoilage.

Extra Conveniences
Pop-Ice trays, a Hotpoint feature, makes ice cubes and tray easily removable with two cubes or a trayful quickly popped out in a jiffy. These trays save time, hands, temperature, and are easy to clean. They are also handy for freezing homemade poppicles.

All foods in the new Hotpoints are in easy reach for they rest upon adjustable stainless steel gliding shelves which are controlled by a safety catch and have back rubber bumpers which prevent any spillage. A spacing feature in this connection which is adjustable to fit needs is particularly convenient, it is pointed out. In addition, reinforced flat bar construction offers smooth, easy-to-clean shelves giving protection for life against rust.

Humidity Control
A glass-top hi-humidity compartment provides humidity control for regulating moisture with stored vegetables and fruits visible through the plate glass top. The drawers of this compartment may be conveniently stacked one above the other to provide ample room for bulky foods.

Best of all, Kafura's remind, is the fact that today's prices are the lowest in Hotpoint history which means that buyers get more dollar for dollar value for their money than ever before. Then, too, convenient budget plans make purchasing a Hotpoint extremely easy. Requests for demonstrations are invited by the firm.

Depreciation of Home Checked by Good Painting Job

Frank Schultz, Well-Known Painter, Offers His Services

There's an old adage which says that "a home which is not painted in the summer is not painted at all."

name and his trumpet are still as generally identified with this musical composition as with his own theme song, "Hot Lips"

As a result, Busse began his leader's career as a "name" conductor several years ago and he has been ranked consistently with top flight dance bands ever since. His music and his trumpet playing have thrilled patrons in such famous spots as the Hotel New Yorker, New York; the Adolphus, Hotel, Dallas; the Neerland Plaza, Cincinnati; the Coconut Grove, Los Angeles; the Chez Paree, Chicago, and many others.

Henry Busse's appearance at Waverly on Wednesday is expected to be a highlight of the dancing season in this vicinity and thousands of dance lovers undoubtedly will flock to Waverly for this unusual dance treat. Admission as announced by the Waverly management will be 55 cents before 9 o'clock and 75 cents after 9.

Dance Sunday
Stan Stanley's orchestra will play at Waverly tomorrow, it is announced, with admission 25 cents before 9 and 35 cents after 9. Waverly's traditional Free Matinee Dance will be held as usual in the afternoon.

A feature this year is the free bus transportation to Waverly Beach on all dance nights. Buses leave Appleton promptly at 8:15 every dance night, Neenah 9 o'clock, and return to Appleton at 1:00 and Appleton at 12:30.

Waverly Beach's picnic accommodations are in complete readiness for the picknicking season if and when it arrives. Plenty of amusements and attractions, picnic tables, and spacious parking areas have made Waverly a favorite summer picnic grounds.

HUDSON LUGGAGE SPACE VISUALIZED

The advent of the tourist season once again accents the importance of luggage space in automobiles, a recognized factor in touring comfort, points out the Schmidt Super Service Station, 202 E. Wisconsin avenue, Hudson dealers. In a unique visualization of the usable capacity of Hudson's 201 cubic foot Carry-All Luggage Compartment, which comparative specifications show is the largest in the industry, Hudson engineers constructed a monster traveling bag.

Even this jumbo bag which almost hides the body of a car is slightly smaller than the actual cubic space contained in the luggage compartment, according to engineers. The Carry-All Luggage Compartment will carry at one time a steamer trunk, two big suit cases and three or four small ones, as well as the spare tire. The spare tire and wheel is carried upright and snugly against the right wall of the compartment which permits the tire to be withdrawn without disturbing a normal load of baggage.

This luggage space, Hudson engineers declare, is obtained without sacrifice of roominess in the rear compartment. Hudson was the first to design the luggage compartment fully enclosed within the body and the enclosed tire in the rear is also a Hudson "first," they assert. The new 1940 model Hudsons are on display at the Schmidt Super Service Station showrooms.

Highway Accidents Reduced By Speed Control, Says Byrne

The commercial airlines of the United States have flown a solid year with no fatality or serious injury to passenger or crew. This accomplishment for the year 1939 was the result of painstaking research and attention to the minute details upon which safety depends.

What has been done to minimize and to that wise bit of philosophy Frank E. Schulz, 1003 N. Richmond street, well-known interior and exterior decorator, adds that a home which is not painted at all depreciates very quickly in terms of dollars.

Mr. Schulz believes that most homes need a new coat of paint quite regularly for protection against destructive winter weather, to avoid excessive home depreciation, and to keep up its appearance. His long experience and complete knowledge of paint application is a distinct assurance to homeowners that painting work which he performs is not apt to readily chip, crack, or peel without giving their full amount of service.

Interior decorating calls for even more careful work since a complete knowledge of correct color schemes is essential to produce a job of which the homeowner can well be proud. Mr. Schulz is superior in this respect, also, it is pointed out by those who have viewed samples of his work.

Does Wallpapering
Styled with the latest in 1940 wallpaper homes can easily be modernized in this manner. Mr. Schulz maintains. It's no trick at all to fix-up a room which guests and members of the family will admire by use of wallpaper and with the large selection of samples which he has available it is particularly easy to find just the right combinations.

If the matter of cost of wallpaper is thought significant, Mr. Schulz reminds that a glance at the prices shown on his samples will remove any doubt of high costs. In fact, many of his customers, upon investigation of wallpaper costs, felt that they could easily afford to re-paper all the rooms of their home with really high quality paper at little more than what they had planned to pay for having just a few rooms re-papered.

An estimate will be given on any type of interior or exterior decorating job without obligation. A telephone call to either 463 or 6438 will arrange an appointment to have an estimate given or wallpaper samples brought to the home.

Edward J. Byrne, Claims Attorney of the Home Mutual Casualty Company, points out the rule governing the speed of a motor vehicle, which reads, "no person shall drive a vehicle on a highway at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent under the conditions." Driving 30 miles per hour in a 35 mile speed zone on a rainy day with slippery pavements, according to Attorney Byrne, may not be considered "reasonable and prudent" while under normal weather conditions it would be.

Insurance Gives Protection
This is your responsibility. Mr. Car Driver. In using the highways think of the other fellow. No matter how much experience you have had in driving and how quick your reaction time is, there may be a time when you must face an emergency. Be prepared for that emergency. First, by having your car under control to avoid the accident—you or someone dear to you or life. Secondly, insure your liability by an automobile insurance policy with Home Mutual Casualty Company, 409 Zuelke Building, Appleton, should an accident occur and injury be caused someone. A Home Mutual Policy serves as your doctor, lawyer and protects your pocketbook.

In the opinion of Mr. Byrne, "It is better to lose a minute than to lose a life."

Color-Styling Service
In concluding her talk and brilliant demonstrations, Miss Berwick urged her audience to take fullest advantage of the new color-styling service offered in cooperation with the local Sherwin-Williams store, explaining that it would help materially to visualize the finished results of a decorative scheme before the job was even started.

Immediately following the meeting, attendance gifts were distributed and light refreshments were served.

Perigo Excell in Rebuilding Old, Worn Mattresses

Prompt Call for and Delivery Service Is Maintained

The qualities which determine the life and comfort of a mattress are usually not easily discernible, explains the Perigo Bedding Company, 1130 W. Wisconsin avenue. What is inside hidden from inspection are the things which really count, the firm believes, and in this particular Perigo's have been known to excel during the many years of its business history.

Perigo customers are assured of high quality because only the finest materials regarding mattress covers, springs, and filling are used by the firm. Equipped with the latest model machinery, these materials are efficiently combined to produce mattresses which compare favorably and often surpass many new mattresses on the market.

Low Cost
Cotton, hair, and kapok mattresses at the Perigo factory are shredded, vacuum cleaned, and tailored into beautiful, like-new mattresses in an ultra-modern way, all at a very reasonable cost far below the price of comparable new mattresses. In the building and rejuvenation process the old, worn out mattress cover is first removed and the batting shredded and vacuum cleaned by an exclusive Perigo method and then thoroughly air-woven into a serviceable new cover. Any size of mattress, Perigo explains, undergoes the same careful process and is made either with or without inner-springs depending upon the choice of the customer.

Perigo's rebuilt inner-springs are, of course, superior to the other type because a thicker layer of cotton is placed around the springs giving extra comfort and added protection. Hundreds of coils are used in the construction providing unusual floating qualities for every muscle of the user, giving complete relaxation. New ticking is used in the construction of an inner-spring type with a quality inner coil unit and roll edge and space tufting finishing. A mattress of this quality would cost about $25.00 if purchased new, the Perigo company maintains.

Other Services
Perigo's services also include re-ticking, recovering of box springs, the making of feather beds into sectional pads with new ticking, making mattresses to fit any size of bed at no extra cost in addition to a variety of other types of bedding construction.

An unusually prompt call for and delivery service is maintained. All that is necessary to take advantage of any of the many Perigo services is to telephone 192.

Color Mistakes Can Be Avoided in Home Decorating

Speaker Offers Ideas at Sherwin-Williams Public Meeting

"Color—it's wonderful," was a phrase used often by Miss Berwick of the Sherwin-Williams Decorative Studios, Cleveland, Ohio, in public address given to women last night at the Knights of Pythias hall on the subject "The Art of Color Styling Your Home."

"Color mistakes don't just happen," Miss Berwick told the women. "There is always a reason why they don't work, yet how easy it is to avoid them. That knowledge is vital to every home-maker." The speaker at this point proceeded to demonstrate the how's and why's of home-styling with striking full-color exhibits which pleased the audience and showed the value of the new color-styling service made available recently to all women by the Sherwin-Williams Paint and Wallpaper store, 302 E. College avenue.

With the wealth of experience of the Sherwin-Williams Decorative studios and the close association they have with the newest and latest ideas in home decoration, Miss Berwick was in a position to offer the women many ideas on home decorating and readily answered the many questions on particular problems in decorating which were showered upon her.

Color-Styling Service
In concluding her talk and brilliant demonstrations, Miss Berwick urged her audience to take fullest advantage of the new color-styling service offered in cooperation with the local Sherwin-Williams store, explaining that it would help materially to visualize the finished results of a decorative scheme before the job was even started.
